750 crowd forum on unit district

More than 750 persons Tuesday crowded into the cafeteria at Elk Grove High School to hear presentations on both sides of the proposed Elk Grove Township unit school district question.

Many stood for four hours at the unit district forum sponsored by the Elk Grove Township Dist. 59 School Community Council.

Emotions surfaced with loud and long applause and occasional catcalls following responses from the eight panelists representing High School Dist. 214, Dist. 59, the Citizens Committee Opposed to the Dist. 59 Unit Formation, and the committee of Dist. 59 residents who filed the petition requesting the unit district formation.

OPPONENTS OF THE unit district focused on what they see as Dist. 59's history of "financial irresponsibility," and criticized it for continued deficit spending and the payment of its teachers in script.

"History is the prologue and the prologue of the unit district is Dist. 59 with its financial inabilities and machinations," Elk Grove Village Trustee Edward Kenna said.

DIST. 59 administrators responded that the district's financial problems were due in part to a $3 million loss in state aid over the past three years and an effort to keep tax rates down.

"The only criticism that can be leveled at the board and the administration is that we should have had a referendum sooner than we did," Dist. 59 Supt. Roger Bardwell said.

Unit district supporters focused mainly on the fact that Elk Grove Township residents provide 42 per cent of Dist. 214's assessed valuation but only 27 per cent of the students.

"OUR CHILDREN are being shortchanged and we're paying premium prices," Jan Schmutzer, a member of the committee of 10, said.

The unit district would combine 21 Dist. 59 elementary and junior high schools, Forest View High School in Arlington Heights and Elk Grove High School in Elk Grove Village under one school board and administration.

A referendum on the unit district proposal is scheduled for April 9. According to state law, only Dist. 59 residents will be eligible to vote in the referendum.

Uneasy, watchful kids hurry home

by HOLLY HANSON

The children at Mount Prospect's Westbrook School did not linger on the playground Tuesday after classes. They hurried to their bikes, walked home in clusters or piled into parents' cars.

The kids were uneasy after hearing about the reported abduction of a 13-year-old Mount Prospect girl walking home from Lincoln Junior High School Monday. She was beaten and dumped into a ditch at Busse Road and Bonita Avenue, about three blocks from Westbrook.

An announcement Tuesday at Westbrook urged children to be on the lookout for a dark blue sedan believed used in the abduction and asked them to look for a license number.

STUDENTS KNEW of the attack and were anxious to discuss it, teachers said. Kindergarten children decided they could kick, bite and scream if attacked, teacher Phyllis Hagedorn said.

Each Westbrook student has been provided with a map describing the most direct way home, though more parents than usual came to school Tuesday to pick up their children. The building emptied early.

Mount Prospect police have said the girl was attacked by two men, both in their late teens or early 20s, driving a dark blue sedan.

"We're telling kids today to be careful about cars that look unfamiliar or that are parked on school grounds or nearby," Lincoln Principal Donald Driver said. "It's something we've told kids since they were kindergarteners."

THE MOUNT PROSPECT abduction followed similar incidents in Arlington Heights and Des Plaines. Two Arlington Heights girls reportedly were kidnaped by two men early Sunday, but were released unharmed.

Last month, a 13-year-old Des Plaines girl was walking to Iroquois School, 1836 E. Touhy Ave. when she was picked up by a man who raped her at knife point in his car, authorities said. Police are seeking 27-year-old Gary Hanson of Chicago in connection with the incident.

Most parents who picked up their kids at Westbrook Tuesday said they usually drive the kids anyway.

"I always pick them up, because we live far from school," said parent John Kostan, who has two children at Westbrook. "But especially today."

PRINCIPALS SAID they want students to be aware of the danger of talking to strangers but the emphasis on safety scares some kids.

"When we have announcements about these incidents, some kids get so psyched up we have several calls the next day, and every man is a strange man," John Bennett, principal at Kensington School in Arlington Heights, said. "But it's better to have that than have them not aware, not cautious."

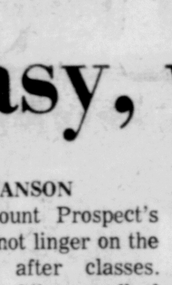
At South School in Des Plaines, explaining safety measures is "automatic when something happens. We let the kids know we're concerned, kind of jack them up," Principal Cecil Trainer said.

The most popular safety program is "Officer Friendly," a representative of area police departments who visits local schools. His talk includes bicycle and traffic safety, as well as what to do when confronted by a stranger, Michael Salatino, crime prevention officer for the Mount Prospect police, said.

Gone 14 mos., family still hopes he'll return

Byline report

Dave Ibata



They still have hope.

The parents of Michael Mansfield still harbor hope their 21-year-old son will return home to Rolling Meadows, but authorities fear he was murdered by the killer he was to testify against in a burglary case.

Michael has been missing since Dec. 31, 1975.

"What can you do?" asked Marvin Mansfield, Michael's father. "You can't shut everything off. How do you say it? Here we are — we were a family of six, and it's been reduced to five, but there's still five, and we still got to eat, pay the bills. You've got to just keep on going."

AND HOW LONG will Mansfield and his wife, Renee, wait for Michael to come home?

"However long it takes," Mrs. Mansfield said.

The Mansfields, 3915 Gull Ct., Rolling Meadows, last saw Michael on New Year's Eve 1975. Michael received a telephone call, put on his coat, told his parents he would be visiting a friend in Arlington Heights, and walked out the door.

He has not been heard from since.

"The only thing he left with was what he had on his person at the time," his father said.

Michael, a 1974 graduate of Rolling Meadows High School, was to have testified in early January 1976 at the burglary trial of his former roommate at Lincoln College, Russell Smrekar, 21, of Joliet.

SMREKAR WAS to stand trial for the theft of record albums from a girl's dormitory room at the college in September 1975. Michael was a key prosecution witness.

After Michael disappeared, charges against Smrekar were dropped.

Today, Smrekar is a convicted killer, who took a shotgun and murdered a Lincoln, Ill., couple to prevent one of them from testifying against him at a petty theft trial.

Smrekar murdered Jay and Robin Fry, both 24, on Oct. 9, 1975, for two pounds of meat he stole from a Lincoln supermarket Oct. 1. He was arrested Oct. 18.

WHILE AWAITING trial, Smrekar boasted to a jailmate he murdered the Frys. His boasting was his downfall. His jailmate testified against him at the murder trial.

Smrekar claimed he murdered Ruth Martin, 51, of Lincoln, who also was to testify against him at the petty

U.S. apologizes for role in overthrow of Allende

GENEVA, Switzerland (UPI) — The United States publicly apologized Tuesday for subverting the Marxist Chilean government of Salvador Allende, overthrown in a bloody coup in 1973. It said no apology can alleviate the "suffering and terror" Chileans have experienced since.

Brady Tyson, deputy leader of the U.S. delegation to the U.N. Human Rights Commission, delivered the apology — the first such public admission — during a debate on a resolution condemning the current Chilean regime for human rights violations.

"Our delegation would be less than candid and untrue to ourselves and our people if we did not express our profoundest regrets for the role some government officials, agencies and private groups played in the subversion of the previous democratically elected Chilean government that was overthrown by the coup of Sept. 11, 1973," Tyson said.

"WE RECOGNIZE fully that the expression of regrets, however profound, cannot contribute significantly to the reduction of suffering and terror that the people of Chile have experienced in the last two years," Tyson said.

"The Vietnam war and the Watergate scandal have left us as a nation more determined, more humble and perhaps in some ways more powerful," Tyson told the commission.

In Washington, the State Department issued a statement saying, "Tyson's statement was a personal one that was not approved in advance and is not an expression of the administration's views." White House Press Sec. Jody Powell said President Carter did not know in advance Tyson was going to make the statement.

Forest district officials look for promised rain

Northwest suburban residents can expect a couple more days of 70-degree spring weather before showers or thunderstorms arrive Thursday or Friday.

The National Weather Service expects clear skies today before some clouds appear later tonight. After reaching a high in the 70s today, temperatures are expected to drop into the mid-30s or 40s this evening. The high Tuesday was 69.

The rain, if it comes later this week, will be a blessing for the area's forest preserves, which are in trouble because of Mother Nature's long winter deep freeze.

COOK COUNTY'S forest preserves are tinder dry, short of lake water and faced with the biggest fish kill on record, Arthur L. Janura, general superintendent, said.

"People have to be careful right now. The snow cover is gone and a lot of dead, dry material is exposed. If we don't get any rain things will be very dry," Janura said.

Chicago man, 27, sought in rape

Des Plaines police are seeking a 27-year-old Chicago man in connection with the Feb. 10 abduction and rape of a 13-year-old Iroquois Junior High School student. Gary Hanson, who also is known as John McKenzie and four other names, is being sought on charges he abducted the girl as she was walking to school, Lt. Lee Alfano detective, said. Hanson allegedly drove into an alley in the 1300 block of Van Buren Street, where he raped the girl in his car, police said. Hanson, 6315 N. Milwaukee Ave., "knows we're after him and we have presumed he's on the run," Alfano said. The suspect was an employe of a Des Plaines factory, he said. Police would not identify the factory.

Dismiss Young suit: Mikva

U. S. Rep. Abner Mikva, D-Ill., asked a congressional panel in Washington Tuesday to dismiss a challenge to his reelection last fall. Mikva charged that his opponent, former Rep. Samuel Young, failed to specify evidence of voting irregularities that would overturn the election outcome. Mikva defeated young by 201 votes in the November election and has been sworn in and seated in the 95th Congress. Mikva and Young sat next to their attorneys as they presented their cases during a two-hour hearing of a special three-member panel of the House Administration Committee, which is considering the complaint. Rep. Leon Panetta, D-Calif., panel chairman, said the group "will take the matter under advisement" and gave both sides 10 days to supply additional material.

18 vouch for Loughnane

The defense Thursday paraded 18 character witnesses before the jury in the fifth day of James Loughnane's trial on attempted murder charges. The witnesses appeared in an effort to prove the defendant's contention that he is a loving father and a respected member of the community. Twelve of the witnesses were relatives of Loughnane. They gave one-sentence answers when asked by defense attorney Edward Genson about his client's reputation for "truth and veracity." The 40-year-old Loughnane is a former Arlington Heights resident and ex-Chicago policeman charged with trying to kill his son, Michael, by throwing him in Lake Michigan to collect $240,000 in life insurance benefits. Loughnane is scheduled to testify when the trial resumes at noon today.

Maine man convicted in girl's death

FARMINGTON, Maine (UPI) — Dennis Voter, 32, of Strong, was convicted of second degree murder Tuesday in connection with the death of his girlfriend's 7-year-old daughter, who died last May after being forced to drink nearly two gallons of water.

The girl, Tina Franks, died May 8 at the Central Maine Medical Center in Lewiston, two days after Voter tied her hands behind her back and poured water down her throat as punishment for dropping her coat on the floor.

Medical experts said the water put pressure on the girl's brain, causing a massive cerebral edema.

The minimum sentence for second degree murder under the state's new criminal code is 20 years in jail. Franklin County Superior Court Judge Robert Browne said he would sentence Voter later.

"This was no accident," Judge Browne said in announcing the verdict. "The defendant persisted in hushing up this cruel punishment."

U.S. reveals germ warfare tests

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Army disclosed Tuesday at least 239 biological warefare tests were run in the United States from 1949 to 1969, some releasing potentially lethal organisms into the air.

In addition, an official study said, at least three persons died from accidental exposure to germ warfare materials under circumstances not described.

The study also showed Defense Sec. Harold Brown was involved in "large increases in U.S. Army biological warfare programs" at the start of the Kennedy administration in 1961.

It said Brown, then the Pentagon's director of defense research, "strongly concurred in the Joint Chiefs' of Staff view that these weapons had great potential" and recommended a program to determine their impact.

ARMY SPOKESMEN said no human volunteers died from exposure to biological agents in the tests covered by the report, conceding some classified programs may not have been included.

As for unintended human damage, however, the report said 504 Army installation workers were accidentally infected and three at Ft. Dietrick, Md., died as a result.

Two succumbed to anthrax in the 1950s and one from viral encephalitis in 1964. It was not clear how they became exposed to the fatal materials, but Army spokesmen said at least one victim was a construction worker who had no connection with the biological warfare tests.

The report said tests involving human volunteers started in 1955 on prisoners from the Ohio and Maryland state penitentiaries, conducted by Ohio State University and the University of Maryland. Seventy-three educational institutions worked under contract on various aspects of the germ war program.

The Army also did tests starting in 1956 on volunteers from the Seventh Day Adventist church, which the report said were conducted "with full knowledge and concurrence of the church elders."

It said agents tested on humans could cause such potentially fatal diseases as rabbit fever, rift fever, Rocky Mountain spotted fever and anthrax.

THE ARMY STUDY was the most complete review so far of the U.S. biological warfare program that ran until November 1969, when former President Nixon stopped it and ordered stocks of germ warfare agents destroyed.

The report described three types of tests: The release of "simulants" into the open air on 160 occasions at 66 locations to determine U.S. vulnerability to biological attack; tests with harmful organisms on 48 occasions at three locations; and 31 tests of anti-crop agents at 23 locations.

Army spokesmen said open air testing of potentially lethal organisms was conducted at the Dugway Proving Ground, Utah; at Eglin AFB, Fla.; and at a farm owned by the University of Wisconsin, near Madison.

MONKEY BUSINESS. Two apes at Brookfield Zoo came out to celebrate the warm weather Tuesday. Some animals emerged from a long hibernation to take advantage of high temperatures and sunny weather by going outdoors to see what the world looks like in March.

are low and as the winter ice melts, widespread fish suffocation is becoming apparent, he said.

Even though some rain is on the way, most of the damage done to fishing areas already has been done by the harsh winter season.

SOME LAKES, such as Baker Lake near Barrington, may have to be closed completely to fishing this summer to permit the fish population to recover. And at other lakes, the catch will be noticeably smaller than usual.

"Unfortunately, it's the bigger fish that go first," Janura said.

The problem was caused by the thickness of the ice this winter, as much as 30 inches on lakes and ponds in north Cook County.

"With ice that thick, the sun's rays can't penetrate and sustain the plants. And when the plants die and decompose that uses up even more oxygen," Janura said. The result is fish suffocation.

THE FOREST preserve district will restock some lakes with fish it plans to buy from commercial hatcheries. But Janura is worried the supply of new fish will be short and prices high.

"The forest preserve isn't the only one with this problem. I'm sure the demand for fish is going to go up and so will the prices," he said.

One element that does not seem to have been hurt by drought or cold weather is well water supplies. Janura said recent tests in the Ned Brown Forest Preserve, Elk Grove Township, where new wells are planned, showed ample supplies of good well water 30 to 40 feet below the ground surface.

THE PACIFIC COAST, meanwhile, is lamenting about having a bit too much moisture. A late winter storm Tuesday dumped deep snows on the Cascade Mountains, causing scattered flooding along coastal streams.

The storm spread inland as governors of Oregon, Washington and Idaho wrestled with problems posed by a long and continuing drought.

Flocks of Canada geese — harbingers of spring, oldtimers say — winged as far north as Wisconsin. The mercury climbed into the 60s as far north and east as Chicago.

More than 1.80 inches of rain fell at Brookings, Ore. The Necanicum River flooded over lowlands near Seaside, Ore., and several other coastal streams were reported flooding.

Loren allowed to leave Rome after questioning

• Actress Sophia Loren, reportedly under investigation for tax evasion and currency violations, was detained at Rome's Leonardo Da Vinci airport Tuesday for nine hours after she attempted to board a flight to Paris. Agents of the finance police, who enforce Italy's tough tax and foreign exchange laws, detained the famed 42-year-old film star as she passed through passport control on her way to an Air France flight. Miss Loren, her face streaked with tears, was allowed to leave Rome for Paris after being questioned for nine hours in the customs office. Police sources said the 42-year-old actress and her producer-husband Carlo Ponti have been under investigation for tax evasion and illegal export of foreign currency. Miss Loren has been in Rome shooting the final scenes of "Un Giorno Particolare" ("That Certain Summer") with Marcello Mastroianni.

• Groucho Marx, alert and wise-cracking about his cook's food, was recovering Monday from surgery to replace a fractured right hip joint. The 86-year-old comedian underwent surgery in a Hollywood medical center Saturday and 20 minutes later was singing "Show Me a Rose," an old vaudeville tune of his, to actor Elliot Gould.

• O. J. Simpson was running his way across Chicago and the suburbs Tuesday. He was here, compliments of Hertz of course, to lunch with leaders of the transportation industry. There's a good chance area residents caught a glimpse of him sometime during the day — dashing through O'Hare Airport to get into his rented car or high-tailing down the expressway into the city.

• Public television station WTTW, Channel 11 in Chicago, is striving for 1,300 new subscriptions each day of its two-week annual subscription drive "Festival '77" which began Sunday. The station received more than 1,300 new subscriptions Monday and more than $30,000 in pledges — which means they are off to a good start, according to spokemsan Jack Wilson.

• It looks like the "Tonight Show" isn't going live March 15 after all. Talk show host Johnny Carson said Tuesday that production problems and availability of guests have forced the show to continue its tape-delay format. The late-night show was to be broadcast live from the East Coast beginning Tuesday, but Carson said insurmountable problems require staying with the taping system.

House approves $50 rebate bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House voted Thursday to send $50 tax rebates and special payments to the vast majority of Americans, giving President Carter almost exactly what he wanted in tax policy.

The final vote was 282 to 131.

If the Senate agrees as expected, rebate checks of $50 would be mailed to almost everyone making less than $30,000, with reduced rebates going to those making $25,000 to $30,000.

Special $50 payments also would go to beneficiaries of Social Security, welfare and similar programs.

IN ADDITION, the bill gives a small permanent tax cut to those who claim the standard deduction and gives tax incentives to industries that increase employment.

Republican efforts to substitute a permanent tax rate cut for the rebate failed. A final GOP effort to recommit the bill in favor of their tax cut proposal failed 219 to 194.

Although many Democrats appeared to agree a permanent tax cut was preferable to the rebate, they bowed to party loyalty.

The bill goes to the Senate where the rebate appears safe although efforts will be made to reverse the changes the House made in Carter's business tax incentives.

The business tax changes were the only sour note for Carter, who wanted relatively small tax credits spread throughout industry instead of the House bill, which was directed only at businesses that increase employment.

SENATE FINANCE Committee chairman Russell Long, D-La., whose committee began hearings on the tax package Tuesday, said he would favor an increase in the investment tax credit, one of Carter's alternatives.

Under the House bill, almost everyone making less than $30,000 in total family income would get a check from the government. Taxpayers would get a $50 rebate on 1976 taxes provided at least that much tax was paid. But regardless of tax paid, full $50 payments would go to recipients of Social Security, Railroad Retirement, aid to families with dependent children, veterans' pensions, black lung benefits and low income families with children.

Lincoln city police say they believe Mrs. Martin is dead, and are searching for her body. But they give Michael a 50-50 chance of still being alive.

THE MANSFIELDS hope Michael is alive and has only been in hiding.

"I would have liked to have talked with him (Smrekar)," Mrs. Mansfield said. "I don't know what I'd say to him, but I'd sure like to talk to him. You just know that when the time comes, you'd know what to say."

The Mansfields had met Smrekar several times before his troubles began with the Lincoln police, when he was just another student at the college.

"He was an outgoing type of individual," Mr. Mansfield said. The Mansfields agree Smrekar impressed them as a "nice person." Mr. Mansfield added, "We have since been enlightened."

Now Michael is gone, but life must go on for Michael's parents, his sister, Susan, 15; and brothers, Scott, 19, and Greg, 12.

Bargain scouts buy lost 'treasures'

by JOE FRANZ

Hundreds crowded into Chicago's main post office Tuesday not to mail letters, but to warily bid on dozens of piles of merchandise ranging from damaged books to a signed lithograph by the late French artist Alexander Calder.

An auction, not stamps, was the order of the day for bargain hunters who flocked to the semi-regular sale staged by the postal service for the sale of unclaimed goods.

One shopper observed there were "some good buys," another warned "you can be taken."

But the pair as well as the other bargain hunters who snapped up the 500 lots of merchandise from the bull pen adjacent to the auction room were engrossed in the event.

THE ITEMS OFFERED for sale at the auction covered almost everything imaginable. Tires, electronic equipment, books, records, clothes, tools, art objects and furniture were just a few of the items making up the list.

"We've gotten some art objects and antiques in here that were very expensive," Stephanie Skurdy, a post office spokeswoman, said. "One of the most expensive things I can remember recently was an antique beer stein that was sold at auction for over $2,000.

"We have animals left here every once in a while," she said. "I'm not sure what the post office does with the animals, but I do know that live animals are not auctioned."

More than 200 persons attended Tuesday's postal service auction in room 400 of the post office building at 358 W. Harrison St.

GOV. JAMES THOMPSON one-upped President Carter's "dial a president" show Tuesday when he fielded questions from Staley Elementary School fifth-graders. Seated on the floor in his capitol office, Thompson told them about his dog "Guv," how he entered politics and his goal to some day become President. Thompson answered questions for an hour and then dutifully signed autographs.

Illinois briefs

Death penalty bill near vote in House

A bill to bring the death penalty back to Illinois for certain classes of murder was sent to the voting stage Tuesday by the Illinois House. The bill, with more than enough House sponsors to pass easily, is a composite of capital punishment bills offered by Reps. Roman Kosinski, D-Chicago, and Herbert Huskey, R-Oak Lawn. A third death penalty bill, sponsored by Rep. Donald Deuster, R-Mundelein, would give condemned killers who want it a five-year stay of execution. Deuster said this would give persons on death row a chance to dig up new evidence or point out procedural errors that could free them.

In other legislation:

A bill to prohibit teachers from spanking students was defeated by the House Elementary and Secondary Education Committee Tuesday. The committee, however, sent to the House floor a measure to prohibit school districts from requiring teachers to live in the district.

Thompson's wife to quit state job

Jayne Thompson, wife of Gov. James R. Thompson, said Tuesday she is leaving her $27,000-a-year state job with Atty. Gen. William J. Scott April 1 but won't give up law work altogether. Mrs. Thompson said her decision to quit as deputy chief of Scott's criminal justice division was not prompted by periodic grumbling the governor's wife doesn't need the job (Thompson makes $50,000 a year) or that she should be tending to ceremonial chores instead.

Metropolitan briefs

Clues to escaped inmates are sought

Police Tuesday hunted for clues to the whereabouts of three patients who escaped from the Manteno Mental Health Center and were believed headed for the Chicago area. Chicago "is where they come from and that's probably where they will return," said John Steinmetz, deputy superintendent of the state institution in Kankakee County.

Authorities believe four inmates escaped Monday by using wire cutters smuggled into the minimum security facility in a birthday cake. The fourth man, Donald Williams, 24, surrendered shortly after escaping. Kankakee County sheriff's police notified Chicago police to watch for the men who were believed to be hitchhiking north on Interstate 57.

Edison denies Levin charge

Commonwealth Edison Co. denied Tuesday it violated the law by reducing the number of light bulbs provided to customers for a monthly fee.

State Rep. Ellis B. Levin, D-Chicago, had charged the company violated the Illinois Public Utilities Act by reducing the number of bulbs from 10 to 8 without seeking approval of the Illinois Commerce Commission.

Levin said the reduction was a de facto rate increase, but the company said its rate schedule calls for customers to receive "reasonable quantities" of bulbs — and that eight is a reasonable amount. The firm said customers needing more bulbs can make a special request for them.

Zion youths held in murder

Two Zion youths have been arrested and charged with murder in the bludgeoning death of Steven Sarsok. Arrested were Ronald Mathis, 17, and Calvin Moore, 18, both of Zion. Sarsok, 25, a resident of the Zion Hotel, was found dead in a deserted stable just south of Zion during the weekend. Lake County Corner Robert Babcox said Sarsok had suffered 17 blows on the head by a blunt instrument, possibly a tire iron.

Tests clear 'L' driver of drug use

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The National Transportation Safety Board cleared motorman Steven Martin Tuesday of suggestions he may have been under the influence of marijuana, alcohol or other drugs during the Feb. 4 elevated train crash that killed 11 persons and injured nearly 200.

Kay Bailey, safety board vice chairman, said the results of two independent laboratory tests of urine taken from Martin 1½ hours after four elevated cars plunged from elevated tracks in the Loop "revealed no evidence of metabolized marijuana."

A spokesman said Miss Bailey will serve as chairman of the public hearings on the accident scheduled for Chicago March 16 and Martin will be one of the witnesses.

The urine tests were conducted by the Walter Reed Army Institute of Research in Washington and by the Triangular Research Institute of the town of Research Triangle Park, N.C.

EARLIER, THE safety board disclosed no evidence of alcohol or drugs had been found in the blood and urine samples of the Chicago motorman who was hospitalized after the crash with a broken pelvis and internal injuries.

The blood and urine tests, which were conducted for the board by the Northwestern Memorial Hospital in Chicago and by the Armed Forces Institute of Pathology in Washington, showed no evidence of amphetamines, barbiturates, alcohol and narcotics.

About 20 persons are expected to testify at the public hearing, which may take three days at the Sheraton Chicago Hotel, the spokesman said.

The spokesman, Robert Buckhorn, said the board has not reached a conclusion as to the cause of the crash. He said after the public hearing, it would be "several months" before the final report was issued.

Firm offers $29 million for race track stock

Gulf & Western Industries Inc. has offered $29 million for the outstanding stock of the Madison Square Garden Corp. in a deal that would give the New York conglomerate ownership of Arlington Park Race Track.

Gulf & Western currently holds 39 per cent of the outstanding Madison Square Garden common stock.

A Gulf & Western representative Dennis McKinnon, said the offer has been filed with the New York state law agency and the deal should be completed "in a few weeks."

NO MANAGEMENT changes will occur at Arlington Park, McKinnon said.

"There will be no changes on the operational level, certainly in the short-term and quite possibly the long-term," McKinnon said. "We don't acquire properties and change management, especially when they're as highly-trained as the Garden's," he said.

No decisions have been made on development of the racetrack property, McKinnon said. "I don't think there will be anything new on that for awhile," he said.

McKinnon said Gulf & Western also has not decided whether to rebuild the grandstand and clubhouse areas at Washington Park, Homewood, which burned in February. Insurance proceeds are expected to go as high as $25 million.

"THAT'S BEING looked into. The track could be rebuilt or the money could be reinvested or it could be used to retire short-term debts," McKinnon said.

Gulf & Western's holdings include Paramount Pictures, Simon & Schuster, Consolidated Cigar Corp. and more than 100 mining and manufacturing plants worldwide.

Quick-witted truck driver wins award

John Gilbert, the Des Plaines gasoline truck driver who drove his burning vehicle away from a fire at a gasoline loading dock, recently was granted the Outstanding Citizen Award by Arlington Heights Rotarians. The incident occurred earlier this year.

Gilbert, 1323 Hazel Ct., was one of several men loading two gasoline tank trucks at the Texaco-O'Hare depot, Elmhurst and Higgins roads, Elk Grove Township, when one worker spotted flames leaping from underneath one of the vehicles.

Rescue workers treat victims of school bus-truck crash.

School bus hit by truck; 3 dead

Three children were killed and 29 other persons injured Tuesday when a speeding tractor-trailer slammed into the rear of a crowded school bus near Lynchburg, Va. The truck driver and one child were in critical condition. The bus had stopped to pick up a child on U.S. 29, a four-lane highway about 15 miles south of Lynchburg, when the truck struck. The bus was tossed on its side and into the median strip.

Authorities said the bodies of Melinda Hollie, 14, and Terrie Lynn Hall, 7, were found in the wreckage — one of them inside the bus, the other beneath it. Linda Davis, 11, died later at Lynchburg General Hospital. Truck driver Theodore Templeton, 36, of Winston-Salem, N.C., and Karen Whittaker, about 16, were in critical condition at the hospital. Two other children, Dina Brown, 6, and David Wooldridge, 13, were in serious condition. Twenty-four other children and bus driver Inez Isaac, 57, were treated and released.

A spokeswoman for the Carrol County schools said Mrs. Isaac was near the end of her run on U.S. 29 and would have turned around after picking up the last child. "Its red flasher lights were flashing and we don't know if the truck driver's brakes failed or he fell asleep or just what. I only know that he's in critical condition," the spokeswoman said.

Stokes heads JFK probe panel

The House accepted the resignation of Rep. Henry Gonzalez, D-Tex., as chairman of its assassination committee Tuesday and Rep. Louis Stokes, a leader in the Congressional Black Caucus, was named to succeed him. Speaker Thomas O'Neill chose Stokes, a Democrat from Cleveland, for the job minutes after the House voted 296 to 100 to accept Gonzalez' resignation. The committee was formed last fall to investigate the deaths of President Kennedy and Martin Luther King Jr. Stokes was a leader in the Black Caucus which pushed for the King investigation, largely on suspicions that the civil rights leader died as a result of a conspiracy.

Rabid, Carter wind up talks

Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin, talking "core issues" with President Carter Tuesday, said Israel would insist on borders it could defend as part of any permanent peace settlement with the Arabs. Rabin told a news conference winding up his two days of discussions with Carter and top American foreign policy officials Israel would insist on defensible borders as part of any peace agreement — "and those borders in no way coincide with the boundaries at the beginning of the 1967 War." Rabin indicated that Israel was willing to make more interim agreements, like those it has with Egypt on the Sinai, until a permanent peace settlement is possible.

Last change for miner families

The families of five coal miners missing for a week in the depths of Brookside Mountain in Tower City, Pa., refused Tuesday to accept a decision by rescue workers that the men were dead. John Shutack, an official with the federal Mining Enforcement and Safety Administration said the families were told Tuesday morning that there was no chance for "another miracle." But he said at the families' request, another hole would be drilled from the surface into the mine in a last effort to determine if the men survived the wall of water that flooded the mine one week ago.

Carter pushes Warnke support

President Carter declared Tuesday that he — not Paul Warnke — will decide vital disarmament policy, but unmollified Senate critics accused Warnke of "deceit" and trickery in the continuing battle over his confirmation. Carter tried to stiffen support for the controversial nomination by assuring Senate Democratic leaders, at a breakfast meeting, of his confidence in Warnke's ability to run both the arms control agency and strategic arms negotiations with the Soviets.

Earthquake survivors bury dead

Earthquake survivors buried scores of their dead in Bucharest Tuesday, but hundreds of other victims of the "hell on earth" that wrecked this capital lay unidentified in the morgue courtyard. Schools and universities resumed classes and President Nicolae Ceausescu orderd all shops to reopen in an attempt to restore normality four days after the disaster. The United States and European nations flew an around-the-clock relief airlift.

The official deathtoll rose to 1,058 persons killed and another 6,185 injured throughout the crescent-shaped earthquake zone that curved through Bucharest. Hundreds of unidentified bodies remained in the courtyard of Bucharest's morgue. They were not included in the official count. Dawn Tuesday was followed by scores of funeral processions in the Old World city. Blue taxicabs carrying mourners trailed hearses down streets marked by a random pattern of destruction.

Probe U.S., not Uganda: Amin

Declaring that some of his best friends are Americans, Ugandan President Idi Amin said nonetheless Tuesday he was on a CIA death list and that the United States should be investigated, not Uganda. Amin refused to allow any international investigation into human rights violations in Uganda as the United States and Britain have asked. He said Kenya was spreading lies about him because Kenya is jealous of Uganda's parks. The burly dictator told a news conference at the Afro-Arab summit that reports of Christian tribesmen being massacred in Uganda were "nonsense." "There is no cause for alarm in Uganda," Amin said.

Gilmore killings blamed on loss of girlfriend

Frustrations about his lost girlfriend led Gary Gilmore on his murder spree and he would have continued killing had police not caught him, the condemned murderer told Playboy magazine.

In an interview published in the April edition of Playboy, Gilmore said the killings of Max Jensen and Bennie Bushnell in petty robberies on successive nights in Provo, Utah, were the result of rage about his breakup with Nicole Barrett.

The robberies were incidental, "without reason." Gilmore said. His intent was to kill someone — anyone — to vent his rage.

"I DIDN'T WANT to kill Nicole. Because I was thinking about killing her and if I had killed her I would have killed myself. I wasn't thinking. I was just doing."

"I had to either get her back . . . or something else was going to happen."

Gilmore said if he hadn't been caught the night of the second slaying — that of Bushnell — he would have continued killing "until I got caught or shot to death by the police or something like that."

Asked if there would have been "a third or fourth killing," Gilmore answered, "There would have been more than that, that night."

INTERVIEWERS LARRY Schiller and Barry Farrell talked with Gilmore on a number of occasions in December and January, including the eve of his execution.

"It was a damn shame for those two guys (Bushnell and Jensen)," said Gilmore, but he expressed little concern for the 400 death row prisoners his execution might touch.

"I figure if a sucker don't wanna get hisself capital punishment, he shouldn't get the death penalty put on him. I mean, any damn fool that's stupid enough to get sentenced to death, what the hell's he got to snivel about afterwards."

Gilmore had a suicide plan prepared in case his Jan. 17 date with the firing squad at the Utah State Penitentiary was put off, Playboy said. He had stolen some shoelaces from the maximum-security superintendent's office, the magazine said.

On the afternoon before the execution, when a judge was considering another stay order, Gilmore said, "I'll just hang myself tonight if they stay it."

"The shoelaces?" he was asked.

"You guessed it," replied Gilmore.

Gunman counters Carter offer with new demand

WARRENSVILLE HEIGHTS, Ohio (UPI) — President Carter promised Tuesday to talk with Corey Moore, 26, if the black gunman gives up a two-day siege and releases the white police captain he has been holding hostage in City Hall.

The White House announced in Washington Carter has responded to Moore's demand, relayed by the FBI, for a presidential audience and that Moore has been informed of his answer.

Moore's apparent reply, according to Police Chief Craig Merchant, was to make an additional demand that Carter appear on Channel 5 (ABC) television at 10 a.m. today to apologize publicly for "all the abuse blacks have received from 1619 until 1977."

MERCHANT CALLED a news conference to tell reporters Moore is "now considering the alternatives and we are waiting to hear what he decides." He said the gunman was in a "peaceful" state of mind even though "quite fatigued" and into his second day without having eaten anything.

His prisoner, who suffers from diabetes, was reported "still in good health and not abused in any way."

Earlier Tuesday police took down barricades from a half-mile stretch of Warrensville Center Road that runs in front of the city hall, touching off reports that Moore was about to give up.

However, Mayor Ramond Graybow explained the step was just to "normalize things as much as possible" and to keep Moore, armed with .38 caliber and .45 caliber pistols calm. The gunman has been following coverage of the standoff on television.

A POLICE spokesman said, "They're still in there and it's not called off. He hasn't given himself up."

Moore, an ex-Marine from Warrensville Heights, took Plice Capt. Leo Keglovic, a 48-year-old diabetic, and Shelly Kiggans, 18, a white high school student, hostage at 2 p.m. Monday in the police station in this Cleveland suburb.

He released the girl early Tuesday in exchange for his television set.

One of his demands, besides talking to Carter, has been for television coverage.

Bill Jacocks of WEWS-TV, Cleveland, who had been talking with Moore through an intercom since Monday afternoon, said, "He is continuing to talk to everyone and he has not threatened to hurt anyone. He said he wants to get out without hurting anyone. He does not want his people to take up arms and go out and hurt anybody because there are too many of them."

MERCHANT TOLD reporters, "They (Moore and Keglovic) are joking and getting along together. Moore has refused all offers of food."

However, a police spokesman said Keglovic was given insulin Tuesday.

Randll Fitch, 26, a friend of Moore's, said the gunman told him "to watch television on Monday because there's going to be a demonstration.

"He has a hangup about white people," Fitch said. "He is very firm in his beliefs that white people should be liquidated."

Miss Kiggans said Moore "treated us both nice" and said "he didn't seem to be prejudiced. He just wanted to get his message across."

CB users often ask us at Landwehr's TV & Appliance Center, "Where is the best spot on a vehicle to mount the antenna?"

Each vehicle is different but, generally speaking, the highest point is the most efficient. We can tell you one of the poorer locations -- the bumpers on cars and trailers. And after an antenna is installed, tuning it is an important part of the installation.

The way we see it

Patient care the first priority

Amid the crisis headlines, official hand-wringing and legal hassles surrounding the suspension of 160 unlicensed psychiatrists from the Illinois Department of Mental Health, one thing is clear. The patients are the losers.

The doctors were suspended by Gov. James Thompson after 127 of them failed a state licensing exam and the others did not take the test at all.

Some of the suspensions have been challenged in court, and the Illinois General Assembly is considering emergency legislation which would allow them to be reinstated while they prepare to repeat the test.

Discussion of the problem has centered on the crisis that would result if all the unlicensed doctors had to be dismissed as the law now requires.

What is absent from the discussion is consideration of what, if anything, having such a large number of doctors without licenses means for patient care in the state's mental hospitals.

Officials explain the state has employed these doctors, most of them foreign-trained, for many years. After a visit over the weekend to a hospital, Gov. Thompson explained that since many of the most severely ill patients don't speak, having foreign doctors treating them does not result in a language barrier.

The voice of the patient caught in the state's mental hospital system goes unheard in the present crisis. For officials, the biggest problem may seem to be the sudden manpower shortage because the doctors have been suspended. For the patients and their loved ones the issue must be what quality of care the unlicensed doctors have been administering all these years.

The examination the 127 doctors failed may not be the best measure of a physician's competence. But it was only part of the exam that is required of all doctors who are licensed to practice in this state.

The test is, therefore, the best we have for judging the doctors. And testing, however imperfect, remains the way members of many professions are judged.

The solution to the present crisis would be for the state system to provide quality care to patients with fully licensed doctors or young doctors in residencies who are supervised by licensed doctors.

Officials of the state say they want to move in that direction. After years of passive acceptance of the status quo, the system doubtless cannot be reformed overnight. Stop gap measures may be necessary.

However, the energy of state officials should be directed toward the goal of putting the state's mental patients in the hands of fully licensed doctors, not with solving the immediate crisis simply by changing the law and restoring the unlicensed doctors to practice.

As a patient, I want to be sure you're a qualified psychiatrist !

Winners and losers

$100 window characters

Jim Bishop

He lived behind bars for a number of years, but Eddie was a born smiler. He was dark and broad-shouldered and he worked the hundred dollar window at race tracks. Sooner or later, he met all the big bettors.

He grinned from behind his cage, punching out tickets and counting them carefully and snapping a rubber band over them. I have seen Eddie punch one out for himself, but these were rare occasions. When Ed bet a hundred, it was because he thought that a certain horse, on a certan day in a cheap race, was a stickout.

He worked the tracks in the East six days a week. He was usually down under the stands and he could hear the roar of the crowd at the finish, but he seldom saw a race.

BOSS FRANK HAGUE was a big bettor but he seldom showed up for Eddie. Hague sent his deputy, Johnny Malone, to place his bets. The Jersey mayor could lose a bundle without a squawk.

Hague's successor, John V. Kenny ("the little guy"), loved to bet big. He walked up to Eddie's window cascading a bunch of quarters between his hands. Then he would pick a number, and slide the expensive lettuce into the window.

Saul Silberman owned a race track — Tropical Park — and tried to go broke betting. For awhile, he had his own betting machine in his office. Silberman was about as tall as a well-kept lawn. The last time I saw him he said, "Don't write me up as a diseased gambler. I've got my betting down to $7,000 a day."

THE BIGGEST BET Eddie handled was from a short, middle-aged stranger. He had two fists full of big bills when he arrived at the window. The track was Belmont. The year, 1943.

"Let me have $60,000 to win on Count Fleet," he whispered. Eddie took the money and gave it to a cashier to count. It consisted of $20,000 in $500 bills; $40,000 in hundreds.

Eddie numbed a finger punching out 600 tickets. Count Fleet won easily. He paid $2.10 for each $2 bet. The stranger — not seen before or since — won $3,000.

JOE E. LEWIS had a heavy hand with money. He loved to go to Gulfstream and Hialeah with Kelly and me. She bought caviar and saltines for him, which irritated the head waiter. He chewed and drank whiskey. Often, he would hand a few hundred to me and say, "I'm goin' with the jock. I'll play the four horse."

In truth, Joe E. couldn't go broke because he had trust funds coming up every few months. Nobody had to toss a benefit for Joe. And yet, watching him select slow horses day after day I felt that the only thing he ever got out of Florida was a pale tan.

There was a woman from Boston who would show up at the hundred dollar window a couple of times a year. The mutuel men called her "The Lady in Red." She always bet the odds-on favorite to show and she always bet $20,000. She didn't make that much but she didn't lose much.

DUKE ALARD was a favorite at the hundred dollar window. He would bet $10,000 on a race, but he lived in a cheap room with a character named Scotty the Clocker.

On the way home from the track, they would buy a pound of baloney, a half-pound of potato salad, four seeded rolls and some pickles. They sat studying horse charts all night, eating off a penknife.

Somehow, they always lost it all near the end of a meet. When the last dime was gone, Scotty the Clocker would reach into his big coat and whip out a pint of gin. He unscrewed the cap and emptied it in one draught.

ONE OF THE BIG bettors died. In his will he asked that his ashes be scattered across the Garden State Track. On the finish line, of course. Another brilliant loser was Chicago Dutch. He won $5,600 at Monmouth Park and put it on a three-horse entry to show.

He couldn't lose. But he did. A nag named Marriage took it all at 40-to-1. Chicago Dutch returned to Eddie's window, reached in and shook hands. "Pal," he murmured, "I'll see you next year."

Eddie said he had never met Damon Runyon. It was Runyon who wrote: "The horse is a stupid animal. You can get 10,000 men to pay to watch 10 horses run, but you would not get 10 horses to watch 10,000 men run."

Eddie O'Donnell was always good for some track stories. He was the man behind the hundred dollar window . . .

Okay night meat sales

The Chicago Metropolitan area remains the only place in the country where a consumer can't stop by the supermarket after leaving work at 6 p.m. and pick up a couple of pork chops for dinner.

The inconvenience caused by the union rule closing meat counters at 6 p.m. has been increasing as suburban lifestyles have changed and more and more bread winners have become grocery shoppers. The effort to change the role has become an annual legislative event.

This year State Sen. Dawn Clark Netsch, D-Chicago, and State Rep. Dan O'Brien D-Chicago, have introduced legislation to require meat sales during evening store hours.

The bills will face mighty opposition from the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butchers Workmen, the union which has enforced the rule for years.

What the proposals will need if they are to have any chance of success is strong consumer support.

It isn't fair that the working public should have to spend their Saturdays at crowded meat counters just so they can eat meat during the rest of the week.

Butchers argue that they want to spend their evenings at home with their families, but ignore the fact that meat, cut and packaged before 6 p.m., could be sold after the butcher leaves with no damage to consumer or butcher.

Perhaps this is the year when consumers will win the fight to buy meat after work. When the battle is won, the Chicago area can join the rest of the country in providing a basic convenience.

Canada in turmoil: conflict with U.S. business

by ROLAND BIRD
(Third in a series)

In December 1975, as the former American ambassador, William Porter, left Ottawa, he had some pointed things to say about Saskatchewan's intended take-over of the potash industry, which he saw as a potent factor in worsening political relations between Canada and the United States.

It was only the latest in a long series of diplomatic shouting matches across the wall of the 49th parallel, not to be compared with the row when Canada re-floated its exchange rate one Saturday afternoon in May 1970, which again was nothing to the howls of the Canadian team of ministers and officials who rushed down to Washington when President Nixon had not excluded Canada from his import surcharges in August 1971.

There was the long Canadian campaign against Time and the Readers Digest now concluded by the disallowance for tax purposes of any Canadian advertising expenditures in them.

THERE IS A similar current fight over Canadian advertising carried by border television stations in Buffalo and Rochester and Bill C-58 which would apply the same disallowance.

Canada's official reaction to Nixonomics was to introduce its policy of the "third option" in 1972, and to give support to it the Forest Investment Review Act (FIRA) was introduced in 1974.

The United States finds it hard to understand the mixed mind of Canadians about foreign capital. They come down to New York for billions of dollars of bond money to develop their utilities and resources.

But they are angered when Americans buy new pieces of Canada through equity investment or when Canadians spend their advertising money on American TV programs that many border Canadians really take as being superior to their own.

WHEN WALTER Gordon and Eric Kierans were trying to persuade Canadians to "buy Canada back" from the Americans 10 years ago, they were pursuing a so-called Canadian identity in economic and cultural affairs.

Most Canadians have a deep urge to preserve a Canadian difference, without defining too closely just what they mean. They certainly have no wish to don a Canadian hair shirt aand to go it alone. But bilateral cooperation between the two countries is regarded with such deep suspicion by so many Canadians that short-run political squabbles and backlashes often obscure what is economically desirable for Canada in the long run.

In Canada, "continentalism" is a dirty word.

The irritants nowadays may be of no more than medium size, yet they seem to have a bigger effect on Americans than was the case before 1971.

To Americans, most of them are caused by Canada — cut-offs of gas, Saskatchewan potash, FIRA, border television and the third option. This latter has official American support, yet is deeply unpopular in the United States.

AMERICANS MAY welcome Canada as a bigger boy on the economic and political scene, able to strike out on its own when it wants to, but soreness is still there. Americans have not forgotten Pierre Trudeau's "Viva Castro" at the time of Angola.

The United States no longer leans on Canada as a resource provider (save perhaps in forest products) and was not impressed with Canada's slow rate of development in the early 1970s, when it was having a comfortable ride on the back of high prices.

One big bone of contention is the Automotive Agreement of 1965, at once the most fruitful exercise in bilateral cooperation, and the most fruitful source of argument between the two countries, each of which has for years been showing how badly it has done from it.

The Americans argue that the production guarantees given to Canada under the agreement were intended to be temporary, until the Canadian automotive industry could become efficient.

THE CANADIANS argue that since 1971-72 there has been a large deficit on the automotive trade account with the United States, largely because Canadian producers of parts cannot get an equitable share of the North American market.

Either country could abrogate the agreement by giving 12 months' notice. This is not in the mind of either, but there is stalemate between them; the United States wants something nearer free trade, while Candada is looking for further production guarantees.

Canada could not stand the completely free trade arrangements that some Americans argue for. Productivity in Canadian car assembly has made no advance since 1969, whereas it has risen by 20 per cent in the United States.

But some sort of compromise, which Canada has so far successfully warded off, will have to be worked out some day. And the arguments will certainly continue thereafter.

He opposes busing plan

State School Supt. Joseph Cronin proposed to transport Chicago black students by buses and Chicago and North Western trains to the Northwest suburbs to achieve racial desegregation and at the same time to solve the problem of student shortage.

The Board of Education survey report shows that the Chicago public schools have now 59.4 per cent black, 24.4 per cent white and 14.1 per cent latino. Why is the number of white students decreased? The reason is simple. The state board is putting too much emphasis on desegregation of schools and the quality of the education system in Chicago is getting lower and lower. The white parents are taking their children from public schools and sending them to private schools or moving out to the suburbs, spending more money for their houses and paying higher taxes, to have their children get a better education.

The schools in the suburbs are better, not because they are predominantly white or they have better teachers. In the suburbs the parents and students' attitude toward school is different. The parents are sending their children to school to get an education and get involved in school activities. Quite a few parents are active in PTA which is doing a good job.

Most Chicago parents never even visited schools. They are not interested in making school better for their children. The school for them is a babysitting institution. If children of such families will be bused from Chicago to the suburbs, the public schools might follow the Chicago pattern. The white students will be transferred to the private schools and the number of students in a suburban public school will decrease.

It's not his ideal

In reference to "Rich get richer, poor poorer" in The Herald Feb. 2:

If there are more thinkers like Rep. Henry Reuss, D-Wis., in congress saying statements like Rep. Reuss said Feb. 20, "If America is to realize her ideal of equality, we must get our income distribution working towards equality — not away from it," why do we have to worry about Russia?

Writing this on Washington's birthday, I think it's very appropriate to say that, as far as I know, our Founding Fathers never had equal distribution of wealth as one of their ideals. Equal opportunity, yes; but equal wealth, good luck Henry!

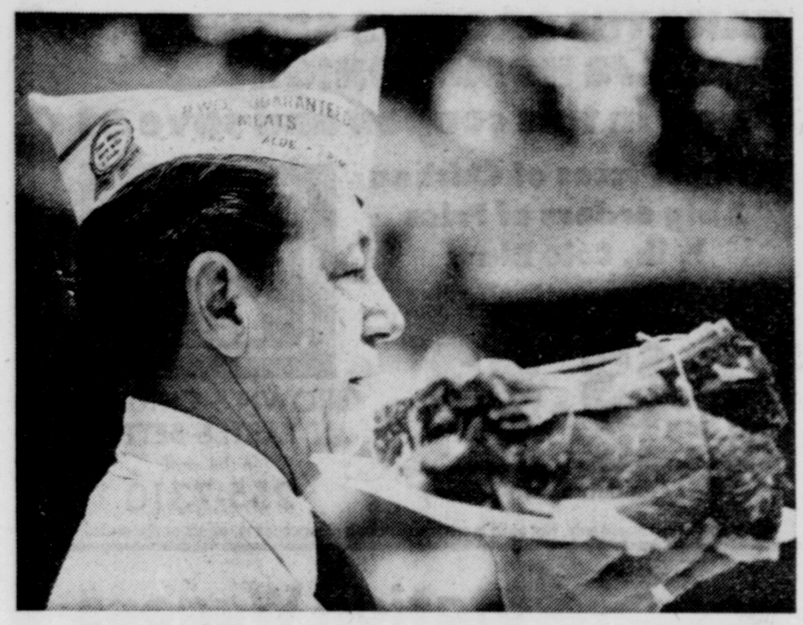
Lucky shoppers win beef roasts in Woodfield center's give-away



JEWEL FOODS District Manager Ken Schmitt recommends oven cooking for an 8 lb. chuck cross arm roast cut in a meat demonstration Tuesday at Woodfield Shopping Center, Schaumburg. The promotion and meat give-away will continue through Thursday.

"Nobody gives nothin' away," said the elderly man, tugging at his wife's coat sleeve to move her away from Woodfield Shopping Center's Grand Court. "It's gotta be a gimmick."

But Schaumburg homemakers like Georgia Kick and Diane Norris walked away 45 minutes later with free beef roasts, and Delores Cox of Chicago had already begun planning a dinner with her windfall.

Mrs. Cox and her husband came from Chicago's Southwest Side Tuesday to visit relatives who suggested a trip to the huge shopping center.

"WE DIDN'T KNOW about the meat give-away until we got here, but my sister-im-law and I made a pact that if either of us got something the winner would prepare dinner for all of us," Mrs. Cox said.

Through Thursday some 600 pounds of beef will be given away in drawings following meat cutting demonstrations sponsored by the Illinois Beef Industry Council. The beef was donated by Jewel Foods.

Demonstrations will be at 3:30 and 7 p.m. today and 3:30 p.m. Thursday as part of Woodfield's Spring in Rural America festival.

Because the promotion had not been widely publicized, the enthusiastic crowd was sparse at Tuesday's opening demonstration.

BRAD POMEROY OF Hoffman Estates walked away empty handed, but he used the question-and-answer session to complain about "not being able to buy meat after 6 p.m."

Pomeroy came to the Midwest 13 months ago from Colorado. "I was horrified that someone would tell me when I can buy my groceries," he said.

"Be vocal. Write your congressmen and keep writing," replied Ken Schmitt, a Jewel district manager, adding that Chicago and St. Louis areas are the only places in the country where unions prohibit meat sales after 6 p.m.

But Diane Norris had a problem. "It's just my husband and me, and this roast is too much for us," she told meat cutter Brain Ebbert.

Ebbert went to work cutting the eight-pound cross rib roast into two portions and told Mrs. Norris to "braise the meat using some liquid and a covered pan. "It'll be delicious. You'll see."

College grads face bright job picture

The brightest job prospects in several years await 1977 college graduates in science, engineering and business, the College Placement Council reported Tuesday. The council report, based on recruitment activity by company representatives visiting 160 college campuses nationwide, shows 49 per cent more job offers have been made so far at the bachelor's degree level than at the same time one year ago. At the master's level, job offers are up 74 per cent; at the doctoral level, 73 per cent higher.

The good news was coupled with a caution from the Council in Bethlehem, Pa., that "prospects may still be limited for many graduates — particularly those in nontechnical disciplines" — such as the humanities and social sciences.

Salary offers, in terms of dollar averages, put petroleum engineering majors at the top with an average offer of $1,508 a month.

France hints reprisals over jet

France Tuesday threatened economic reprisals against the United States unless the Concorde supersonic jetliner is granted landing rights in New York. The warning from French Foreign Minister Louis de Guiringaud came as manufacturers of the Anglo-French Concorde prepared on two fronts to overcome Gov. Hugh L. Carey's opposition to permitting the plane to use Kennedy Airport. De Guringaud said in a radio interview, "The decision at stake will determine our attitude at GATT." He was referring to possible French opposition to U.S. trade policies in the coming Geneva negotiations of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade organization.

Truth-in-eating program planned

The Carter administration intends to tell consumers about the nutritional quality of food, and some junk foods consequently may be driven from the market, Agriculture Sec. Bob Bergland said Tuesday. "We're going to go on a program of informing consumers about what they're buying . . . from a nutritional point of view," Bergland said. "We'll let the marketplace decide how to allocate resources (but) it's going to hurt . . . Some things on the market probably will go away when people find out what it's really like."

Price of orange juice to increase

Florida's January cold wave may send the price of frozen concentrated orange juice up to 40 cents a 6-ounce can and push fresh orange prices up 10 cents a dozen, Agriculture Dept. experts said Tuesday. The analysts admitted in a fruit situation report their price forecast was based on early reports of the extent of freeze damage to Florida groves in January. Actual prices may be higher or lower than the tentative forecast, depending on final production figures and on whether high prices lead the citrus industry to sell some of its large stocks of processed orange products. The increase, if it materializes, could add more than $400 million to consumer spending on frozen concentrate on the basis of current industry consumption forecasts.

Auto union, firm to resume talks

Representatives of United Auto Workers Local 1027 and Fiat-Allis Construction Machinery Inc., agreed Tuesday to resume contract negotiations today in an effort to end a four-day strike at a Springfield plant. More than 1,500 employes Saturday struck the plant, which makes heavy construction and farm implement equipment. About 850 UAW members were on layoff status when the strike began.

Dow falls 3.08 in fast trading

NEW YORK (UPI)—After drifting most of the session, prices fell Tuesday in accelerated trading of New York Stock Exchange issues when concern grew that interest rates would rise along with inflation to hinder the economy.

Walter Wriston, Citicorp chairman, triggered selling late in the day when he predicted short-term interest rates would rise 1 to 1½ points during the year as loan demand increases. Citicorp owns the nation's second largest bank.

Analysts said investors were split in their opinion about President Carter's proposed $31.2-billion economic stimulus proposal, but many were concerned it would rekindle inflation.

The Dow Jones industrial average, up nearly three points at the outset, lost 3.08 points to 952.04. The closely watched average gained 1.66 points Monday.

The NYSE common stock index lost 0.19 to 54.83 and the average price of a common share decreased by 11 cents.

Collection agency law backed

by LEA TONKIN

Illinois consumers are protected from abusive midnight calls by collection agencies in the state, says Thomas Raleigh of the Illinois Dept. of Registration and Education, but he favors passage of federal legislation to regulate the industry.

Raleigh, coordinator of the department's collection division, said harassment and abusive language are tactics used by some out-of-state collection agencies on Illinois residents. "Those agencies are continuously contacting people in Illinois," Raleigh said Tuesday.

Most of the provisions included in federal collection agency legislation proposed by U. S. Rep. Frank Annunzio, D-Ill., already are covered in the Illinois Collection Agency Act, Raleigh said. "In fact, our law is stronger in some cases," he said.

"WE DON'T KNOW yet, but we would assume that the strongest regulation would prevail," Raleigh said of differences between Illinois law and the proposed federal standards.

For example, collection agency representatives can call on debtors once a week under Illinois law, but twice-a-week calls would be allowed under Annunzio's proposal. Contact with a debtor is allowed between 8 a.m. and 8 p.m. in the state. Annunzio's legislation would permit 7 a.m. to 9 p.m. contact.

Three new regulations are scheduled to take effect March 21 in Illinois, Raleigh said. They're designed to alleviate problems of mishandling of creditor funds by collection agencies.

One new regulation would require collection agencies to remit payments by a debtor to the creditor within 60 days. A second rule would require agencies to maintain a trust fund for payments from debtors, separate from operating funds. A third regulation sets accounting procedures for collection agencies.

TWO YEARS AGO, Raleigh said, a man who collected more than $200,000 from Illinois debtors "just absconded with it." People who paid their bills through the collection agency might suffer bad credit reports for months or years if the money is not turned over to a department store or other creditor, Raleigh said.

Regulation has not stopped the collection industry abuse problem in Illinois, Raleigh said.

Today's nurse-midwife sheds granny's image but keeps her concern

by LAURA SCHMALBACH

One Chicago nurse-midwife says she's had patients ask her if she's a high school graduate, and even some of her medical colleagues still picture the job as nothing more than a pair of hands at a home delivery.

But even though that old stereotype of a granny catching babies in a backwoods farmhouse is still going strong, today's 1,200 nurse-midwives (there are 40 in Chicago) have come a long way from the days when "nurse" wasn't attached to their title.

Extensive, post-graduate training programs offered at 16 schools across the country equip nurse-midwives to manage uncomplicated pregnancies from the first prenatal visit to post-delivery family planning. Few will perform home deliveries because of the risks involved, and they operate only as members of a medical team that includes an obstetrician on call for any complications. Even the American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists has given them its support.

It's all a far cry from the turn of the century when "granny" midwives were forced to leave the baby business to trained physicians — a move prompted by appallingly high maternal and child mortality rates. States outlawed midwives except in the most rural areas, and obstetricians began delivering babies in hospitals.

An acute shortage of doctors in the late 1960s revived midwifery, but the new nurse-midwife had much more education than her lay counterpart. Trained in schools that started during the 1930s, these new "grannies" were placed primarily in urban ghettos or isolated rural areas.

DR. CONNIE ADAMS, director of the University of Illinois-Medical Center's Nurse-Midwifery program says there is still a shortage of qualified obstetricians in certain areas of the country. Most of her graduates wind up at large city hospitals or rural areas in the South, but she emphasizes that these women are now much more than fill-ins for doctors.

"It's really unfair to think of nurse-midwives in terms of delivery alone," said Ms. Stoltz, an Illinois graduate who practices at Illinois Masonic Hospital and the Chicago Board of Health. "Almost 70 per cent of our time is spent in counseling and health education . . . some nurse-midwives work just in family planning or as consultants in maternal nursing. We have a much broader role."

Physicians' reactions to that role have been favorable: "They're happy because we consult each other constantly . . . there are even some areas (like breastfeeding) where they can learn from us," said Ms. Stoltz.

"Physicians are trained primarily in the pathology of obseetrics, and they obviously have a vast amount of knowledge," said Dr. Adams. "But nurse-midwives, in addition to their nursing backgrounds, are trained in identifying the patient's and her family's needs . . . that combination makes for the best possible care."

"There's very little continuity of care in most big city hospitals," she continued. "We free physicians to do what they were trained to do — handle complicated deliveries and surgery — and in the process we can give a total package from the first prenatal visit through postpartum counseling. Before the nurse-midwives, these functions were taken care of by separate persons."

ADDS MS. STOLTZ, "Most doctors have only a few minutes to spare, so they ask the patient if she has any problems and leave it at that. Many women have told me they feel the doctor has his hand on the doorknob the entire time."

But nurse-midwives do more than free obstetricians and take their time while educating patients on contractions and breast feeding. For many women, they also fill a gap in the American system of obstetrical care.

"Ideally, we see all our patients from start to finish, but that isn't always possible," said Ms. Stoltz. "Even when we can't, we're women working with women, and it really makes a difference. We look at pregnancy as an emotional experience, because it is . . . there are a lot of changes and questions during this time, and most women are not brought up to suddenly turn into mothers."

"Emotional support is the key . . . if a woman has been up all night with heartburn, it may not be a major medical problem but it's important to her, so we take care of it. We're preparing women emotionally, and I guarantee you aren't going to get that at a doctor's office."

The delivery process is as natural and uncomplicated as possible, said Ms. Stoltz. Although nurse-midwives use a variety of childbirth methods, including LaMaze, the emphasis is on "preparedness." They encourage attendance by both parents at childbirth education classes, and fathers are welcome in the delivery room. Excessive medication is frowned on, although local anesthetics may be used if necessary.

"WE GET A LOT of our patients through word of mouth . . . they want the natural approach a midwife offers, but they don't want to have a baby in their backyard either," said Mrs. Stoltz. "We go along with what the mother wants as long as there's no risk to her or the baby."

The nurse-midwives' affinity for naturalness and spontaneity does not extend to home deliveries, though both Dr. Adams and Ms. Stoltz report many requests.

The resurgence of lay midwives, particularly in California, has meant that "a lot of people are demanding home deliveries," said Ms. Stoltz. She said there are some nurse-midwives who would be willing to do them, but added it would be "politically unfeasible" to associate highly-skilled nurse-midwives with their less professional cousins.

But while most nurse-midwives turn up their noses at home deliveries because of the possible risks, they've kept the "grannies"' emphasis on bedside manner and turned it into one of their biggest selling points.

"No matter how much preparation you've gone through, labor and delivery is still a foreign atmosphere," said Ms. Stoltz. "We stay with our patients throughout, and believe me, it's vital."

CHICAGO'S Lynda Cock agrees. Laurie Stoltz delivered her five-week-old son, and Mrs. Cock says there was "no comparison" between her first delivery via obstetrician and her recent experience at Illinois Masonic.

"This time, I really felt like I had a friend," said Mrs. Cock. "I felt more at ease having another woman with me, and I felt Laurie was taking her time . . the first time the doctor was always rushing in and out."

Mrs. Cock missed out on most of her first delivery because she was under a general anesthetic from 11 p.m. to her baby's birth at 2 a.m. Her husband was left pacing the floor in the waiting room, and she accepted her less-than-perfect lot because "I didn't know there were any choices."

This time, she asked plenty of questions, shared delivery with her husband, and came away from the experience "totally satisfied."

ECONOMICS had a definite bearing in Mrs. Cock's decision to use Illinois Masonic's nurse-midwifery program, but she says she would probably return to the service even if she had the option of a higher-priced private obstetrician.

Nurse-midwife Barbara Brennan, author of the new "The Complete Book of Midwifery," heads a team of five certified, licensed nurse-midwives in New York City's Roosevelt Hospital. All their patients are private, and Ms. Brennan reports the service was "swamped from the start."

She says her affluent, college-educated clients are influenced by feminism, the back-to-nature movement and the trend to natural childbirth, and the nurse-midwives' personalized care is an antidote to "assembly-line obstetrical practices."

There are no nurse-midwives operating in the Chicago suburban area, but Ms. Stoltz maintains "the first suburban obstetrician or clinic to (start a nurse-midwifery service) would be swamped with calls . . . we get many requests from suburban women."

BUT DR. DONALD JESSEN, chief of obstetrics and gynecology at Northwest Community Hospital in Arlington Heights, says nurse-midwives are not needed in the Northwest suburbs because there is no shortage of obstetricians or general practitioners.

Dr. Jessen said that while it is difficult to stay with a patient throughout labor and delivery, "you'd run into the same problem with a nurse-midwife . . . if Northwest has an average of seven or eight deliveries a day, it would mean hiring that many nurse-midwives, too."

Despite Dr. Jessen's reservations about suburban nurse-midwives, Dr. Adams maintains they can provide counseling and woman-to-woman warmth that many obstetricians lack.

But whether their office hours will be spent in a suburban office or large community hospital, more and more R.N.'s are completing training to become nurse-midwives.

THAT USUALLY means at least one year of maternity nursing experience before admission to nurse-midwifery programs, most of which are two years in length. At Illinois there are four qualified applicants for each of 16 full-time and eight part-time openings.

Much of the training is on a one-to-one basis, said Dr. Adams, and the students manage at least 20 deliveries during the course of the program.

"The program is a stiff one, and it's much different from regular nursing because you're managing patients yourself," said Ms. Stoltz, a former obstetrical nurse at Evanston Hospital.

"I got into the program because I thought there should be something better for the patients . . . now I'm involved in an emotional, human experience, and I like what I'm seeing."

Gardeners diggin' in for show

The entries, done in monochromatic color schemes, will be competitive and judged by standard point scoring. Table settings and horticulture specimens are again expected to draw thousands of visitors as are the junior, intermediate and high school entries, educational exhibits, and exhibits of state and national garden club objectives.

FABRICS IN ALL the vibrant colors of the spectrum are being used to make table coverings, hostess sashes and program covers for the garden show sponsored by Garden Club of Illinois during the Chicago Flower and Garden Show at McCormick Place. Judy Cimaglio and Ruthie Parsons belong to Plum Grove Garden Club which has conducted workshops to prepare for the show being held March 26 through April 3.

Her salary touchy topic, but its control is wife's

Julie Martoccio

Women and children first

Dear Ms. Martoccio,

Can a husband go to his wife's boss and take her check each week? Can he take it and use it? Can he make her use the money for what he chooses to use it for? I married after graduation from high school so was never employed until recently when I got a job which permits me to work between the hours my children are in school.

I did this mainly because we are having money problems.

Usually after I receive my check, I go directly to the supermarket and buy groceries and have only a couple of dollars left. Now my husband says I should give it to him to put in the bank and if I don't, he will collect my salary every week. I am not a child. Is the money mine?—M.

Dear M.,

Yes, the money is yours and what's more, you can do whatever you want with it and not answer to anyone other than Uncle Sam's favorite collection agency.

Your husband cannot — nor does he have the right to — go to your employer and get your check. What's more, I think he knows that fact but figures that if he threatens, you'll hand over your salary to him to bank without an argument.

Frankly, though, I don't think you have much of a problem at this point if your husband wants to bank the money. Rather it seems to me that he has that "back to work" syndrome common to men whose wives decide to supplement the family income. In cave man days, Oog went out to kill the wild boar and bring it home to his family for food and clothing. Your husband apparently is afraid of surrendering this instinct. In the light of the messes thousands of husbands have created by abandoning their wives and children and refusing to provide them with the necessities of life, my own inclination is to say, "Would that there were more husbands who felt familial responsibilities with or without the syndrome I mentioned!"

Because you are not spending the money on yourself (neither is he), is it really so important that you buy the groceries or use what is left rather than bank the money? Or is this your belated attempt to become an individual in your own right?

There is nothing wrong in wanting to assert yourself, but the method you use must be carefully considered. Men have fragile egos, and today's economy and women's rights haven't helped them any. I hope you will work out some kind of a compromise so that situation — as it now exists — will not grow into a more serious one.

If your husband is in all other respects a good, reliable one, legal rights or not, he's probably worth a little ego salving now and then. Good luck!

New classes at Oakton

Want to learn to make Italian pasta? Need to bolster your decision to start a new career?

Though the two are extremes in special interest classes, both are offered in one-time sessions by Oakton College.

Italian pasta will be demonstrated Wednesday, March 16, 7:30 to 9:30 p.m., at Maine West High School, Des Plaines. Participants will learn to make a variety of inexpensive homemade pastas, guided by instructor Milena Troiano of Wheeling.

Tuition is $7 for all. The MONACEP office at Oakton College has details at 967-5821.

A "CAREER Development and Decision-Making Day" sponsored by Oakton Women's Programs is Tuesday, March 22, 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., at St. Luke's Lutheran Church, Park Ridge. The workshop is designed to help women clarify work values, aspirations and goals, and is open to all.

Fee is $8, with child care for those age 2 and over $3.50. Reservations should be made at 967-5120, ext. 350.

Lawrence E. Lamb

The doctor says

Muscle strength, not weight what he needs

My problem is that I am 5 feet 10 and only 140 pounds. There is so much information on losing weight and so little on how to gain it. Please help me and the many others who want to gain weight.

Is it best to start on a weight-training course or should I try to put on weight first and then go on a weight-training course?

Can I gain more weight by eating more, while limiting my activities, or can I gain weight faster using a weight-training course? What vitamins will help me gain weight? I would appreciate any information you can give me.

This question is asked far more often than you realize by young men and may be related to our stereotyped concept of masculinity. Adding pounds of fat to your torso will not increase your maleness.

It will only increase your chances of having a major problem with obesity later in life and the chances of having arterial disease that causes heart attacks, strokes and even decreases a male's sexual capacity earlier in life than would otherwise occur. Many think that extra blubber is actually unsightly. At your height 140 pounds is just fine. If you want to improve your body contours so that you appear more muscular and need a muscle strength training program. I am not implying you need to develop large bulging muscles, but rather to firm up your body and if you have body fat convert it to muscle.

When a young man says "I want to gain weight," it is necessary to know if he wants to gain muscle size, strength, or wants some blubber on his torso. It makes a difference. If you want to emulate the fat, stock show animal, all you need to do is be inactive, use as few calories as possible and stuff yourself with rich foods, to take in as many calories as possible. Such a program will help you get fat and sloppy if that is your goal.

Otherwise I recommend a strength-training program. You can build muscle strength and reasonable size without adding a lot of fat to the body. In most instances the key to success is the exercise program. As you load a muscle when it contracts, it grows stronger and bigger to be able to lift that amount of weight easily.

There are right and wrong ways of doing this. I am sending you The Health Letter number 5-4, Weight Training for Energy and Weight Control. As you develop and maintain muscles, your muscle mass will keep you from getting fat. So, developing muscles is good for those who want to avoid obesity, including women, and for those who want to develop a stronger, healthier, muscular body. Others who want this information can send 50 cents for it with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for mailing. Send your request to me in care of Paddock Publications, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York N.Y. 10019.

When you develop adequate strength of the muscles you need for sports, it makes it easier to be successful. A person who wants to play tennis is wise to develop the arm and shoulder muscles by a good training program.

Vitamins will not help you gain weight unless you have a vitamin deficinecy. They do not provide calories for energy nor do they provide protein for building body tissues. They merely provide the chemical catalys that your body's enzyme system uses to process your calorie-containing foods; fats, proteins and carbohydrates.

Butterless zucchini for restricted diets

Dear Dorothy: My husband has to watch his cholesterol intake and I'm on a low-sodium diet. We both like zucchini and so I experimented and finally have one both of us can eat without breaking rules. Others in the same fix may like it, too. I slice enough zucchini for two, put it in a skillet with one tablespoon water, one tablespoon corn oil, one tablespoon wine vinegar and one cut-up garlic clove — and sprinkle on black pepper as it simmers. It's served when almost tender, but still crisp. It surprises us how delicious it is, even though it contains no salt or butter.—Margery A. Fox

Dear Dorothy: I keep reading about people who don't know how to get mildew off their shower tile, and they might be interested in my way of doing the job. Make a thin paste of water and powdered water softener and use this to scrub the tile. Then it is rinsed and all the mildew and scum is gone. It starts to shine as the wall is wiped with a large dry towel.—Doris Langstadt

Dear Dorothy: I have a good chamois that needs laundering. How's it done so that it does't come out hard?—Ronald W. Noe

Wash in a lukewarm solution of mild detergent or soap flakes, squeezing the suds through it gently. Then rinse in lukewarm water, squeezing out the excess water. Dry away from heat and, while it's drying, pull it gently into shape.

Dear Dorothy: I can't understand why people have so much trouble cleaning out a burned pan. I've had complete success by adding a tablespoon of cream of tartar to enough cold water to cover the burned area, then let it boil for five minutes. After the water is cool, the mess wipes out easily with a scouring pad.—Mary Ann Dowell

Breast X-ray guidelines suggested

A woman who has detected signs of breast cancer should submit to a breast X-ray regardless of her age without fear of aggravating her condition, the Journal of the American Medical Association said today.

However, a woman under 50 without symptoms of breast cancer should not be subjected to the breast X-rays until more research has been done to determine whether such mamography itself may cause cancer, the Scripps Clinic and Research Foundation reported after extensive research.

Attempting to unravel the confusion among both physicians and patients over whether women should have periodic mammograms to check for breast cancer, the JAMA published a series of guidelines from the Scripps Foundation.

The foundation reported doctors should follow practical guidelines when calling for mammograms.

IT SAID A WOMAN who has a high risk of breast cancer, such as strong family history or previous breast cancer, should receive periodic screening, including an X-ray. It also said periodic screening should be done for all women over age 50.

Dr. Harold M. Schwartz of the foundation said "for any individual woman, the risk of inducing breast cancer by mammography is very low."

Another report questioned the value, not the safety aspects of breast X-rays for women under 45 years of age.

Dr. Gerson J. Lesnick of Mount Sinai School of Medicine reported that 84 per cent of 106 women under 45 detected breast tumors themselves, and another 14 per cent had tumors found during routine examinations by doctors.

Dr. John C. Bailar of the National Institute of Health, wrote in an editorial that mammography is a precious tool in diagnosing breast cancer but that the medical profession should take a careful look at the usefulness and safety of the procedure.

Ingmar Bergman at best in 'Scenes'

There is something in "Scenes From a Marriage" for everyone — those single, married and divorced.

It is an important and a moving study of people — how they learn to love each other, grow apart and become friends.

It is the kind of film that probably will enrich the lives of its viewers and give people an insight into their innermost feelings, their deepest fears and the diverse joys of life.

ONLY THE SWEDISH writer-director Ingmar Bergman could make such a film because he has always been good at artistically recreating matters of the heart.

And yet, the film has one other special ingredient — the brilliant acting of Norwegian beauty Liv Ullmann.

The English-speaking version of "Scenes From a Marriage" will be seen in its six-part entirety for the first time in the United States at 9 p.m. Wednesdays beginning today. It is one of the many special programs being featured on WTTW, Channel 11, as part of Festival '77, the station's annual public television subscription drive.

The Bergman jewel was originally conceived as a series for Swedish television, and the six-hour film was later reduced to a two-hour, 48-minute movie for release in the United States. Even then, back in 1974, disjointed and tampered with, "Scenes From a Marriage" was acclaimed as eBrgman at his best.

BECAUSE THE FILM was originally made for television, it will be an absolute joy for viewers to watch because there are the necessary closeups beautifully incorporated into the film and a rich and expressive dialog that captivates the audience.

It is the story of an upper-middle-class couple whose "perfect" marriage begins to shred once they begin to take a closer look at themselves and their relationship. They love, they argue, they separate, divorce and then finally come to accept themselves as independent people and friends.

There are elements in the film that everyone can identify with if they are willing to level with themselves, and it is a genuinely honest exploration of relationships and people.

It is the story about emotions on the grassroots level, and people needing each other for all the wrong reasons, but finally coming around to realizing their mistakes.

IT MAY SEEM similar to the much publicized affair between Bergman and Ms. Ullmann although both have denied such implications.

Liv Ullmann was a young girl who was a loner in her manner, goals and ideas. She lost her father at a young age and had many disappointments before landing her first stage role in the "Diary of Anne Frank" in a town repertory theater outside of Oslo, Norway.

Her first marriage to Oslo psychiatrist Hans Jacob Stang was a five-year failure. Bergman, having heard of her acting ability, asked her to star in his movie "Persona," the 1966 film that set off what would be a global love affair with Ms. Ullmann.

They fell in love, lived together and had a daughter, Linn. Together they grew. As an actress she became more mature and graceful; as a director he became more sensitive and creative. Their eventual breakup led to a friendship that prospers even today — on the set and off.

IT IS LIKELY that the growth, the happiness, the pain and the realizations of the Bergman-Ullmann relationship went into the making of "Scenes From a Marriage," although the film's messages are universal.

LIV ULLMANN and Erland Josephson star in "Scenes from a Marriage" tonight on Channel 11.

Swedish viewers gathered in front of their television sets in record numbers to follow the segments of the film when it aired there in 1973. They discovered they could relate to the experiences of Johan, portrayed by Erland Josephson, and Marianne played by Ms. Ullmann.

American viewers will find themselves doing the same.

Tonight's episode introduces the characters: Marianne, a 35-year-old divorce lawyer and Johan, a 42-42-year-old scientist. They have been happily married for 10 years and suddenly begin analyzing their relationship. Their retrospect in part one, "Innocence and Panic," is prompted when married friends of theirs begin bickering at a dinner party. Ullmann introduces each film segment and each weekly installment is followed by excerpts from the documentary, "The World of Ingmar Bergman."

HIGHLIGHTS:

- "The Horrible Honchos" is the 4 p.m. Channel 7 ABC Afterschool Special about a new boy in the neighborhood who is taunted by a gang of kids who call themselves "The Horrible Honchos."
- Georgia Engel of the "Mary Tyler Moore" show guest stars on "The Jacksons" at 7:30 p.m. on Channel 2.
- Charles Bronson plays a tough guy again in "Mr. Majestyk," the 8 p.m. movie on Channel 2. He portrays a melon-grower who single-handedly challenges labor racketeers.
- The "All-Star Swing Festival" at 8 p.m. on Channel 11 features such greats as Duke Ellington, Ella Fitzgerald, Benny Goodman and Gene Krupa in a 1972 jazz concert flashback.
- Remember Rick Nelson, the singer with the dreamy eyes? Well, he'll guest star on "Tales of the Unexpected" at 9 p.m. on Channel 5 as a Major League pitcher whose mangled right hand is replaced with one of a dead criminal.

Bison advance with tense win over stubborn Carmel

by KEITH REINHARD

Paul Grady was not smiling.

The Buffalo Grove coach had reason to be happy. His Bison had just surpassed another pre-season goal, advancing to the finals of the Waukegan East Sectional Tournament Tuesday night by downing Carmel, 46-42.

But Grady's gang had won the game virtually in spite of itself and Grady was obviously not the happiest winning coach in Illinois on this particular evening.

"WE PLAYED poorly," he shrugged. "I can't complain about our defensive game. Any time you hold any team to 42 points you're doing a decent job. But we left a lot to be desired at the other end of the court."

It was a contest that the Bison mentor felt his troops may have counted in the win column before they stepped on the court.

Conversely, it was a contest that the Corsairs appeared to believe was tucked into their hip pocket at halftime.

And down the stretch, it took on the trappings of a match that Buffalo Grove almost wanted to give away.

THE BISON went into the fourth quarter with a 38-26 heading and Brian Allsmiller promptly popped in an 18-footer from the baseline to expand the bulge to 14 points.

The Grove did not hit from the floor for the remaining seven minutes and 47 seconds of the contest.

In fact, they only tried three more shots.

Meanwhile, Carmel, sparked by a youthful 5-9 reserve guard Ward Nieds, kept on coming.

Following a pair of Bison free throws that made it a 40-36 contest, the Corsairs reeled off ten straight points.

BUFFALO GROVE'S Mike Ledna clicked on a pair of free throws and Carmel answered back with another pair of buckets to pull within two, 42-40.

After that Scott Groot went to the line twice and calmly poked through four consecutive free pitches to keep the Mundelein-based Corsairs slightly out of reach and move Buffalo Grove into a Friday showdown with the winner of Wednesday's New Trier West-North Chicago tilt.

The Bison took only 34 shots in the entire contest and were outscored from the field 19-14. In the first period

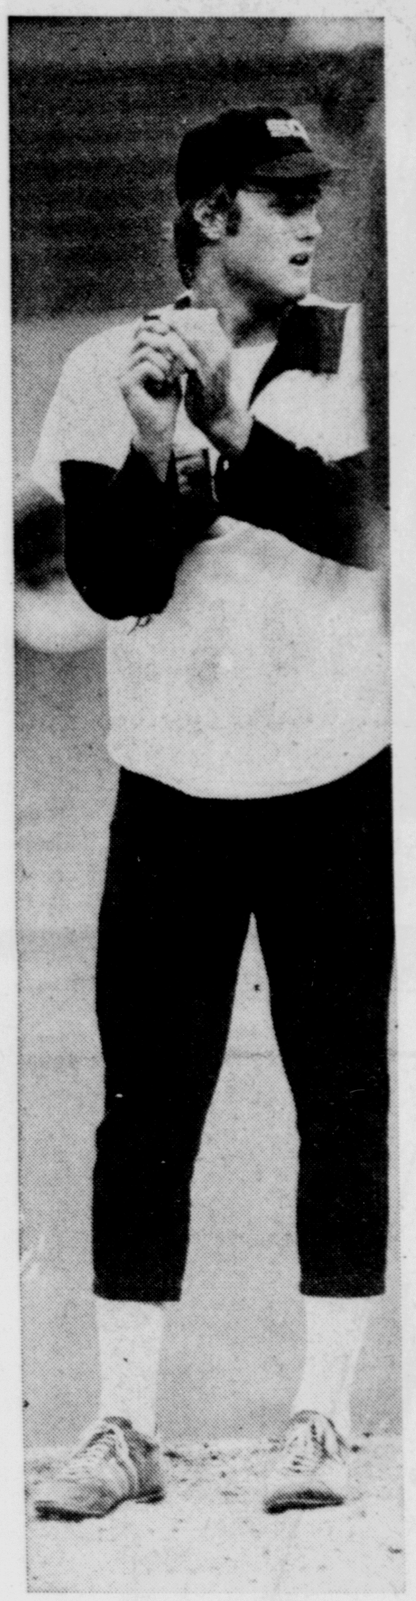
'Everything seems good' to Sox hopeful Monroe



LARRY MONROE

by RICHARD HUBBARD

SARASOTA, Fla. — There are no major problems right now for Larry Monroe as he attempts to pitch his way on to the White Sox roster for 1977.

Every day offers a new challenge in sunny Florida, but the 6-foot-4, 200-pound Forest View High School product is encouraged by his progress.

"So far everything seems good," Monroe said here Tuesday as he watched the first White Sox intrasquad game of the 1977 spring training camp.

"MY ARM FEELS real good and I'm just trying to get all my pitches together. I came here with the thinking that if I wanted to make the club, then I would have to work hard and prove to them that I was good enough to be here."

The burly right-hander is looking at his chances of breaking camp and heading North with the team optimistically and realistically although it's obviously too early in spring drills for evaluations.

"They're giving me a longshot chance of making the club," Monroe said. "I don't think they want me to make it yet."

After four years of high school pitching, in which he won 26 and lost only seven while posting an earned run average of 1.09 and striking out 346 batters in 230 innings, the White Sox signed Monroe to a contract.

Sox training report

MONROE'S FIRST season, 1974, was split between Sarasota (Gulf Coast Rookie League) and Appleton (Class A). In the former league, he had a 1-3 record and was 2-1 in the latter.

The following year, Monroe was back in Appleton, where he had a disappointing 5-11 mark. During the season, he hurled a 1-0 no-hit victory over Cedar Rapids.

According to Monroe, 1976 was his most productive. He was at Knoxville (Class AA) and although he won 11 and lost 14, he was satisfied.

LAST YEAR WAS the year that put me over the hump, Monroe said. "I learned what I could do and what I couldn't do. I know exactly what I'm doing now."

Monroe finished out the last 1½ months of the season with the Sox. He appeared in eight games, pitched 22 innings, allowed 23 hits, 11 runs, 10 of which were earned, walking 13 and striking out 9. His only decision was a 7-3 loss to the California Angels in his second start ever.

"Over-all, I didn't do too bad," Monroe said. "When they brought me up, it was just hard to concentrate. It just seemed like I was in a fog. But this year I'll be ready and I'll be able to concentrate."

THERE ARE presently 20 pitchers in the White Sox camp, but Monroe said, "I think only nine will make the team. They're stacked with starters, and that is where they will probably use me once I get up.

Monroe mentioned that the key to making the major leagues was "to be consistent. When I signed I gave myself three years to make it. This is my third year and I think I've been fairly consistent in each one of them."

WHILE MONROE watched here Tuesday, Richie Zisk, one of a dozen unsigned Sox, hit two home runs in a wild scoring intersquad game and salary negotiations with a dissatisfied teammate, Bucky Dent, collapsed.

Dent's agent, Nick Buoniconti, met with owner Bill Veeck and General Manager Roland Hemond prior to the game and Buoniconti said afterward "it looks as though the White Sox simply can't afford Bucky."

Dent, who was earning $60,000 last year, is seeking a three-year contract at something more than $400,000. The White Sox have offered to double his 1976 salary and will agree to the three years, according to Buoniconti. Beyond that there was no agreement.

"WE THINK BUCKY out to be paid with the best shortstops in the major leagues. It's that simple," Buoniconti said.

Veeck, declining to comment on the talks, said that the White Sox had made Dent "a reasonable offer."

Hemond indicated that a renewal contract would be forthcoming Wednesday and if the White Sox implement the 20 per cent salary cut, Dent could wind up as one of the lowest paid regular shortstops in the major leagues. Under major league rules, a club is entitled to invoke a renewal contract during the player's option year.

Wallis signs one-year contract

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. — Outfielder Joe Wallis, the Cubs' last salary holdout, signed a one-year contract Tuesday. Terms were not disclosed.

Wallis batted .245 in 121 games as a rookie last season, taking over the centerfield job when Rick Monday was moved to first base.

The 25-year-old switch hitter socked five home runs and knocked in 21 runs mostly from the leadoff spot in the order.

The Cubs will play a six-inning intra-squad game Wednesday in which rookies Jeff Albert, Willie Hernandez, Steve Hamrick and Dave Geisel will pitch. Hernandez, Hamrick and Geisel are left-handers, a commodity in short supply for the Cubs.

Arlington coasts past Elk Grove in record show

by JIM COOK

The evening began with a record, ended with a record and included a record in between.

The night opened with the national anthem, closed with Arlington's 21st victory of the season and included a new single-season team rebound mark by 6-foot-4 Cardinal Greg Kloiber sandwiched in the middle.

Victimized by the standard-shattering Arlington performance was Elk Grove, 76-51, in the opening round of the sectional tournament Tuesday at Grace Gym.

"I think we're playing our finest ball of the season," Arlington head coach George Zigman said of the Cardinals' dominance. The 21 triumphs surpassed the 20-6 Arlington record in 1973-74 and the 20-5 in 1974-75, both Zigman-coached teams, and the 20-4 mark in 1966-67.

"WE DID A nice job on the boards and were able to run a little on them," Zigman continued. "We kept (Mark) Smith in check and just gradually pulled away from them."

The decisive advantage was on the glass where Arlington, paced by Kloiber's 18 boards, owned a lopsided 36-16 edge. Kloiber rewrote the three-year-old 339 rebound mark of Dan Donahue with 351.

Arlington's sturdy 200-pound center constantly converted missed shots into rebound baskets for 25 points and Frank DeSimone penetrated for a variety of off-balance drives and a game-high 27 points.

"Kloiber is great," Elk Grove coach Ken Grams admitted. "The way Arlington's playing now, they have to be playing their best ball of the season.

"THEY JUST DID a great job collapsing on Smith and we just couldn't get anybody hot to pick up the slack." Elk Grove (13-14) shot just 39 per cent from the field and were lead by Ben Stogis' nine points.

Arlington's Tom North, perhaps sacrificing his offensive game (two points), blanketed the Grenadiers' talented center and limited Smith to eight points, including just a pair of free throws in the second half.

Smith, who had been averaging 15-18 shots per game, was handcuffed to just seven attempts. "Tommy fronted Smith real effectively and prevented him from getting the ball," Zigman said. "We know that if Smith gets the ball low, it's two points."

After a seesaw first period in which Elk Grove held one-point leads on three occasions, Kloiber began exerting his strength on the boards, crashing for key offensive rebounds and converting perfect assist passes from Dan Frase and Frank DeSimone.

SHOOTING AT A 59 per cent clip from the floor for the night, Arlington (21-7) finally cracked the vault in Elk Grove's zone defense with a 21-8 scoring burst in the third period. Fueling the onslaught were two quick fouls by Smith that forced him to the Elk Grove bench.

"That seemed to be the turning point of the game," Zigman said. "Kloiber and Frank just took control of the situation."

With Smith on the sidelines, Arlington tacked 11 unasnwered points on the board and cruised into the sectional finals against the winner of tonight's Maine South-Gordon Tech clash.

"We don't have a preference of whom we face," Zigman said. "We haven't seen either of them, but we understand that Gordon is pretty quick and Maine South has some shooters. We're just glad to be alive and playing at home."

And if Arlington matches the intensity and strength it displayed Tuesday, the record Friday could be "You're Sweet Sixteen."

Palatine, Sycamore collide tonight

by CHARLIE DICKINSON

Ed Molitor has a great deal of confidence in his coaching ability.

He had confidence when his Palatine basketball team was struggling with a 3-11 record and he has it still, with the Pirates freshly crowned champions of their own regional tournament and all set to run up against Little Seven Conference co-champion Sycamore (18-7) in a 7:30 Elgin Sectional contest tonight.

"I've told these kids all year," Molitor said, "that if they stay close and play with poise we can give them help from the bench.

"IT'S WHEN they lose their heads and stop thinking that they get in trouble."

Palatine has not stopped thinking since that low-water mark of 3-11. They have been 10-2 since, with losses coming only to Buffalo Grove and Fremd.

They avenged the Fremd loss, ripping the Vikings by 23 points in the regional final as 6-7 senior Kevin McKenna produced 42 points and 14 rebounds.

Molitor is appreciative of McKenna's efforts, saying, "We know Kevin has to do the job for us to win," but he is quick to point out, "we are playing the best basketball of the year because our younger kids are starting to do things right and we are giving a good team effort."

A NEW MOTION offense has provided shots for all five players on the floor and relieved McKenna of the offensive burden.

As a result, he is getting better shots and hitting them more often (he is shooting 52 per cent from the floor this year compared to 35 per cent his junior year) and his teammates have rounded out as basketball players.

Chris Plazak, a 6-1 junior, and Rick Jessen, a 6-0 sophomore, have polished their guard duty and give the Pirates good outside shooting threats.

Doug Buenzow (6-3) is Palatine's second-leading scorer and Bob Cole, a 6-4 sophomore, could be Palatine's future big gun.

MATT LINSNER and Bill Landeene have been coming off the bench with good support and it all adds up to a well-balanced outfit.

Sycamore gained from the Rockford high school money pinch one Lewis Ducksworth, a 6-5 senior center who is averaging 23.6 points and 14 rebounds a game after transferring from Rockford West.

Molitor's scouting report revealed, "They play a two guard offense, spreading it out and trying to get it inside to Ducksworth.

"I hear he's a good jumper. Their whole team rebounds well and they have some good perimeter shooters."

FLANKING Ducksworth on the frontline will be a pair of 6-4 juniors, Tom Henke and Gail Olsen.

Olsen is apparently no slouch as a leaper, holding, as he does, a national age-group high jump record of 7-2.

Mark Thomas (6-0) and Mark Gilbert (6-0) are Sycamore's starting guards.

Sycamore head coach Don Resler is careful to down play his team, describing them as, "average shooters and jumpers" possessing "average quickness."

HE ALSO points out, "Stopping McKenna will be the key to winning."

Which indicates Sycamore may be overlooking a whole bunch of Palatine basketball talent.

Black Hawks fall in Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES — The struggling and weary Black Hawks, experiencing a dismal road trip, suffered a 7-1 setback here Tuesday night.

The host Kings exploded to a 3-0 first period lead, blasting 22 shots on goal in that opening stanza, and coasted in with the victory. Los Angeles led 6-0 after two periods.

The Black Hawks, who yielded 6, 7 and 6 goals in previous road losses, lost an opportunity to gain on the St. Louis Blues, a loser in St. Louis. Chicago trails the Blues by seven points in the Smythe Division.

Chicago plays at Vancouver Thursday night.

Jean Pronovost and Wayne Bianchin scored one goal each to keep the Pittsburgh Penguins in second place in the Norris Division with a 2-1 win over St. Louis.

Bianchin scored the winning goal at 14:47 of the first period on a 40-foot shot. St. Louis goalie Doug Grant never touched the puck.

Pronovost scored his 31st goal of the season on a fast shot after Syl Apps had faked a shot and passed to Pronovost. Ron Stackhouse also was credited with an assist.

IN OTHER NHL games Terry O'Reilly scored the game-winning goal and added an assist as the Boston Bruins beat the Atlanta Flames, 3-2, for their fifth win in a row.

The victory pulled the Bruins, 6-0-1 in their last seven games, to within a point of the Adams Division leading Buffalo Sabres.

Glen Sharpley, the National Hockey League's third leading rookie scorer, had a goal and an assist as the Minnesota North Stars surprised the New York Islanders 3-1.

The victory, Minnesota's fifth in its last seven games, moved the North Stars four points ahead of Colorado for the third and final playoff spot in the Smythe Division.

Michigan gains No. 1 ranking

PITTSBURGH'S Russ Anderson (7) and Mike Corrigan (27) team up to take the puck away from St. Louis Blues' Red Berenson as he attempts to dive on goalie Dunc Wilson in first period Tuesday night. Pittsburgh won, 2-1.

'Underdogs' boost Michigan to No. 1

NEW YORK — The University of Michigan capitalized on the help of two "underdogs" to gain the No. 1 ranking in the final week of the regular season Tuesday and win the 1977 United Press International college basketball championship.

Third in the ratings going in last weekend's action, Michigan gained supremacy when unbeaten San Francisco was upset by Notre Dame Saturday and No. 2-rated Kentucky was toppled by Tennessee.

Although the loss to Notre Dame was the only blemish on San Francisco's record, the Dons, who held down first place most of the season, wound up second in the final ratings, 79 points back of Michigan which had three losses. The Wolverines made up precious ground Sunday by edging Marquette, 69-68.

MICHIGAN, WHICH finished the regular seson 24-3, picked up 23 first place votes in the final week and posted 374 points. No. 2 San Francisco collected first place votes from nine coaches for 295 points. North Carolina, drawing three first place nods, was voted No. 3 on 275 points, UCLA had four firsts and 254 for No. 4, while Kentucky slid to fifth place on 200 points and a single first place vote.

"It's a tremendous honor to be picked No. 1," said Michigan Coach John Orr. "This is not a school known for basketball. It's known as a football school.

"No. 1 — that's what you play for," he said. "I like the poll. Shoot, man, it's half of college basketball. It creates interest and arguments all over the country."

Illinois State topples Creighton

OMAHA — Illinois State employed a last-ditch offensive stall and jumped to a seven point advantage late in the game Tuesday night to preserve a come-from-behind 65-58 victory over Creighton and pocket the first post-season basketball playoff win in Redbird history.

ISU's 7-foot center Jeff Wilkins poured in 21 points, grabbed 12 rebounds and blocked four shots to power the Redbirds to a second round playoff National Invitational Tournament contest in New York.

Ron Jones had 13 points and Billy Lewis 12 to supplement the ISU's scoring attack, while Creighton's John C. Johnson topped both teams with 22.

The leading Bluejay scorer, Rick Apke, was plagued by foul problems throughout and left the game with seven points compared with his season average of 20.2 per game. Apke fouled out when the Redbirds led 53-52 with 5:57 left to play.

NAIA win for Illinois Wesleyan

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — All-America center Jack Sikma scored 31 points Tuesday night to lead No. 2-seeded Illinois Wesleyan to an 87-67 victory over St. Augustine's (N.C) in the opening round of the NAIA tournament.

Sikma scored 15 of his points in the second half to help Wesleyan post its biggest lead of the game, 72-45, before he was pulled with 7:07 remaining. Sean Powell topped St. Augustine's with 18 points.

Alfredo Monroe scored 17 to pace four Alcorn State (Miss.) players in double figures as the Braves rolled to a 90-54 victory over Mt. Marty (S.D.)

Fifth-seeded Texas Southern also had an easy time in its opening round game, rolling up a 20-point halftime lead against Central State (Ohio) and then coasting home to an 87-65 victory.

Denver trims Knicks in NBA action

In an evening of photo finishes in the NBA Tuesday, David Thompson erupted for 26 of his 30 points in the second half as Denver edged the New York Knicks, 114-108. Atlanta's John Drew dropped a 19-footer at the buzzer to give the Atlanta Hawks a 99-98 victory over the Philadelphia 76ers and Marvin Barnes drilled a 20-footer with four seconds left to propel Detroit to a 109-107 triumph over Milwaukee.

Elsewhere, Buffalo squandered a 17-point lead, but held on to tip Buffalo, 102-95 and Larry Kenon and George Gervin struck for 29 points each as San Antonio downed Phoenix, 122-115. Fred Brown scored 25 points to lead Seattle to a 96-91 win over New Orleans.

Umpires, leagues reach agreement

Major league umpires have approved by a vote of 38-9 a new contract with the National and American baseball leagues which could result in a $50,000 per year salary for veteran umpires in the next five years, it was disclosed Tuesday in Chicago.

The umpires and their negotiator, John Cifelli, reached agreement with the leagues on the contract proposal a week ago at Tampa. The final vote of approval of the umpires was tabulated Tuesday.

The new contract provided for upgrading the umpires' salaries after three years, seven years, 10 years and 13 years. Previously the plateaus were reached after six years, 11 years, 16 and 21 years.

The starting minimum for umpires in the major leagues will be $16,500 and after 15 years an umpire will receive $42,000. However, there was a boost in the minimum annual raise for each umpire from $1,000 to $1,500.

Other news in the sports world...

Bernie Bierman, famed University of Minnesota football coach who produced five national championship teams starting in the 1930s, died at a Southern California hospital, Monday night, it was disclosed Tuesday . . . Cause of death was a heart attack . . . Bierman would have been 83 this Friday.

Prospect High product Dave Kingman missed Tuesday's workout with the New York Mets and General Manager Joe McDonald became testy when reporters inquired of Kingman's whereabouts . . . It was learned later that Kingman was in New York for a court case and manager Joe Frazier admitted Kingman had advised him of the reason for his trip.

Bison eliminate stubborn Carmel

they hit at a somewhat less than awesome two-for-10 clip and trailed 6-4.

GRADY'S OUTFIT then picked up three straight field goals to open the second stanza and jumped into a 10-6 lead but Carmel rallied later on to knot the game at 15-all with less than a minute to go. The Bison held off for a last second shot, turned the ball over and Dan Kalb hit for Carmel with five seconds remaining before the midgame buzzer.

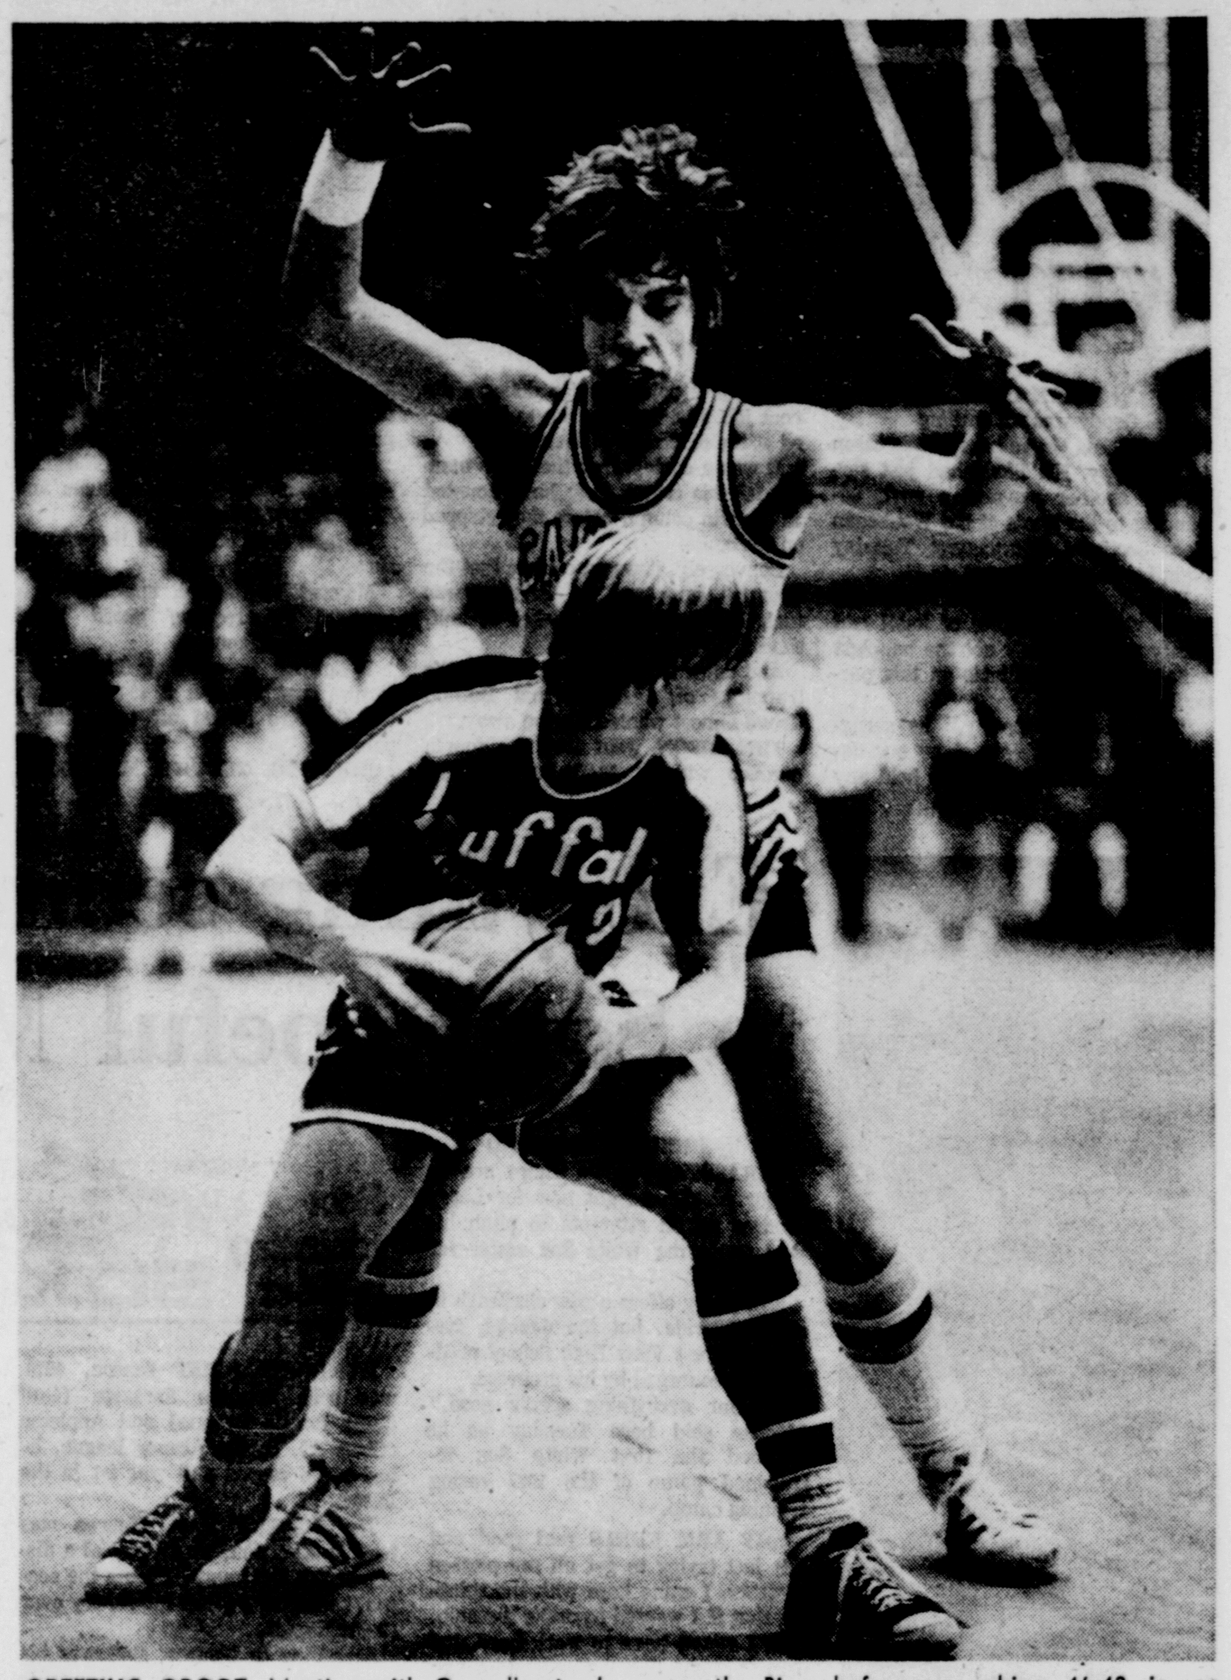
The Libertyville regional winners carried a 17-15 edge into the dressing room at halftime and apparently felt they were on their way.

"We played about a quarter-and-a-half of good basketball tonight," Grady said afterwards. That period of excellence began with the third period tip and continued while the Bison accumulated their 40-26 bulge.

IT WAS ALMOST a 42-26 gap but a sensational 75-foot desperation shot by Fred Heesch at the end of the third period was not counted even after it swished through the net.

Allsmiller tallied 13 to lead the Bison in scoring and guards Groot and Ledna supplied 10 more apiece.

Carmel was headed up by the standout guard Tim Murray with 14 and Nieds with 11.



GREETING GROOT. Meeting with Carmel's standout shooter Tim Murray was n t the most pleasant experience for Buffalo Grove's Scott Groot Tuesday. Murray scored 14 points to help the Corsairs scare the Bison before succumbing, 46-42, in sectional playoff action at Waukegan East High School.

Weber wins to advance in sectional

by ART MUGALIAN

ELGIN — Five Weber players scored in double figures Tuesday night as the Red Horde, now 20-8, advanced to the Elgin Sectional final with a 78-72 victory over stubborn Elgin Larkin.

Weber will meet either Palatine or Sycamore Friday for the championship after the tall and quick Chicago Catholic League team toyed with the Royals most of the night in the opener.

PACED BY 6-foot junior reserve Andrew Troutman's 16 points, the Red Horde built a 16-point advantage in the first half before Weber's big men, 6-7 Dave Lang and 6-7 junior Derrick Thomas, got into foul trouble.

Larkin closed its season at 17-8 but fought valiantly before bowing out in front of a huge hometown crowd.

Six-nine Royal center Mike Henry and teammates Joe Thornton and Neil Cummings led a third-quarter charge that closed the gap to 44-40 with 4:15 to play.

BUT IN A time span of two seconds Henry and Cummings each sat down with their fourth personal fouls and Larkin went the next four minutes without scoring.

A basket by Troutman and two by Rickey Wilson increased Weber's lead to 54-40 before Larkin scored again.

Weber reserve guard Alan Weel was the key performer in the fourth quarter when, with Henry and Cummings back in, Larkin made a final rush to cut the Weber lead to 68-64 with 3:13 left.

Weel finished with 12 points, nine in the last three minutes, including seven free throws. Troutman, who hit eight-of-nine from the field, was Weber's top scorer and Marcus Dillard added 13. Thomas and Wilson each had 11 for the Red Horde.

Larkin got 19 points from Thornton, 17 from Henry and 16 from guard Jeff Huxtable. Elgin missed 18 of its 30 free throws.

Zernial an October hitter

Gus Zernial of the Chicago White Sox holds one of baseball's most obscure records. Zernial hit four home runs during the month of October 1950. Not counting World Series or playoff games, no other player in modern history has ever accomplished Zernial's feat of hitting homers in October. Sox slugger hit 29 round trippers that season.

Hersey girls top Wheeling, 45-40

Hersey's girls basketball team handed Wheeling its second straight loss in Mid-Suburban play, a 45-40 setback at Hersey Tuesday night. The decision ended conference play for both teams and nearly knocked the Wildcats from second place.

Fremd won the North Division title with a 55-42 victory over visiting Buffalo Grove to finish at 9-1. The Bison' loss pushed their record to 6-4, giving Wheeling at 7-3 the North Division berth in the MSL consolation game Saturday.

FOREST VIEW, which crunched host Schaumburg 68-36 in another MSL game Tuesday, concluded its South Division season with a perfect 12-0 mark. The Falcons will meet Fremd for the championship at Forsst View immediately after the consolation game which begins at 6:30 p.m. Saturday.

Elk Grove held on to its second-place South Division spot by turning back visiting Hoffman Estates 47-46 to earn the right to meet Wheeling Saturday.

In other games, Conant tripped host Rolling Meadows 57-34, and Prospect scored its first win of the season by edging host Highland Park 51-49.

After Wheeling had cruised to a 29-16 lead after two quarters behind a 20-point second-period scoring spree, Hersey's defense tightened to hold the Wildcats to 11 second-half points.

The rebounding of Jodie Stembridge played an important part in the final-half rally by Hersey (4-6), according to winning coach Meg Putnam. Beth Frye dropped her only point through with just six seconds left to play on a free throw that gave the Huskies a secure lead.

FREMD'S Connie Bruns hit her season high with 19 points in leading the Vikes to their 55-42 win over Buffalo Grove. Peggy Hamill helped the winners with nine rebounds, while Joyce Gallagher and Bev Torain had seven apiece for the Bison. Kathy Pfaender, injured last week, did not play for Fremd. She may play Saturday.

Forest View used balanced scoring to swamp host Schaumburg 68-36. Kim Karaffa and Judy Schmidt had 11 points each for the Falcons, followed by Linda Butzen with 10 and Kathy Suchecki and Debbie Brinkman with nine each.

Elk Grove (9-3), which had to win its game in order to keep second place, used a hoop by Karen Mullen with only four seconds to play to give it its 47-46 victory over Hoffman Estates (7-5). Hoffman's leading scorer, Tracy Farrish, fouled out having scored six points.

Grenadier Carole Pollitz led all scorers with 18 points, followed by teammate Kim Richardson with 10. Charlene Warring had 12 to lead Hoffman Estates.

CHERYL EYERMAN hit 17 points to pace Conant (8-4) over Rolling Meadows (2-10), 57-34. Teammate Kathy Surnicki added 15, while Maureen Quinnett had seven for the losers.

Jeannine Hahn tallied 19 points to help Prospect to its 51-49 win over Highland Park. Prospect ended its MSL play earlier last week at 0-12.

Cuba trip doubtful – this spring

NEW YORK (UPI) — The U.S. State Department has cleared the way for a major league baseball team to go to Cuba; the New York Yankees are ready and willing; and Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn is talking about sending a team of all stars.

The most likely prospect is that no American team will visit Havana. Not this spring, anyway, because time is running out.

The State Department gave its approval for an American baseball team to play in Cuba as part of an ice-breaking effort in diplomatic relations between the two nations.

NEGOTIATIONS for a U.S. team to go to Cuba were conducted on an informal basis a year ago when the commissioner's office was kept apprised of those developments. More recently, however, Cuban Premier Fidel Castro suggested a visit by the Yankees, who expressed themselves as being all for it.

But the proposed dates for a Yankee trip to Cuba are April 1-3, and the Yankees admit they are "firmly committed" to an exhibition game April 2 against the University of North Carolina in Chapel Hill. North Carolina coach Walter Rabb, who will retire at the end of this season, his 31st year in coaching, is a legendary figure in the college sport and the game with the Yankees has received a lot of publicity throughout the state.

Meanwhile, another roadblock toward a U.S.-Cuba baseball meeting this spring was created when Kuhn announced that the only team he was interested in sending to Cuba was a team of all stars.

KUHN APPARENTLY felt any major league team visiting Cuba should carry the endorsement of his office, while the Yankees were equally intent in becoming the first American team to play in Havana since diplomatic relations between the countries were broken in 1950.

"The reason for preferring an all star team is it would give the broadest possible participation by both teams and individuals," said Kuhn. "It is going to be difficult to send a team this spring and it would need to be in the spring because of the passage of time, although we are continuing to explore it."

Orioles' glory days over; problems ahead

Editors Note: This is the first in a series of major league baseball spring training camp sizeups. Today: The Baltimore Orioles.

by FRED McMANE

Jim Palmer

MIAMI, Fla. (UPI) — Did you hear that noise? That was the sound of the Baltimore Orioles a tumblin' down.

For the last eight years the Orioles have been one of the more dominant forces in the American League with five first place finishes, two seconds and a third in the AL East Division.

But the glory days appear to be over for manager Earl Weaver's troops. The Orioles will not enter the season as a leading contender.

EXCEPT FOR the Oakland A's the Orioles were hit hardest by the re-entry draft last November. Three of the Orioles' top performers a year ago — outfielder Reggie Jackson, second baseman Bobby Grich and pitcher Wayne Garland — played out their options and are now with new clubs.

It has left the Orioles stripped to the bone. They now have less depth than a Jacqueline Susann novel.

Weaver tries to remain optimistic but unless a group of untried rookies can make it big right away, the Orioles could fall all the way to the AL East cellar.

"WE FEEL we're very competitive, but we don't have the depth of New York or Boston," says Weaver. "Other than depth, though, we can go on the field with anyone."

The Orioles' chances for survival, though, depend heavily on the word "if."

"If Al Bumbry can have the kind of year Mickey Rivers had for the Yankees last year, if Rich Dauer or Kiko Garcia can have a rookie season like Willie Randolph had and if Dennis Martinez can come through like Dock Ellis did for the Yankees, those are the types of things that you need to win a pennant," says Weaver.

STRENGTHS — AL's best pitcher in Jim Palmer, best shortstop in Mark Belanger and leagues' top RBI man in Lee May.

WEAKNESSES — Very little power, other than May; weak offense; no depth.

NEW FACES — Rich Dauer led International League in batting last year and should fill Grich's spot at second: Kiko Garcia is another rookie who could win starting infield berth; Pat Kelly, obtained from White Sox, adds outfield depth; Billy Smith signed as free agent and has shown some hitting ability.

OUTLOOK — Realistically, the best Orioles can hope for is third place. They just don't have the manpower for a six-month war.

Dorothy Hamill successor to perform here in May

Linda Fratianne, newly crowned successor to Dorothy Hamill as the world's best woman figure skater, will head a stellar group of amateur figure skating champions appearing in the Chicago Figure Skating Club's fourth annual "Stars on Ice Revue" Friday, Saturday and Sunday, May 20, 21 and 22, at Randhurst Twin Ice Arena in Mount Prospect.

Fratianne, 16-year-old U.S. Senior Ladies Champion and Olympic competitor from California whose daring skating in Tokyo last week brought her the World title, will duplicate championship skating routines during her Chicagoland appearance.

Joining Fratianne at Randhurst are: Tai Babilonia and Randy Gardner, U.S. Pairs Champions and Bronze Medalists at the World Championships in Tokyo; David Santee of Park Ridge, U.S. Senior Men's Bronze Medalist and Olympic competitor, whose fourth place finish in World Championships led U.S. Senior Men's competitors; Wendy Burge, member of the U.S. Olympic team who finished fifth in Tokyo; Canadian Senior Men's Bronze Medalist Vern Taylor; and U.S. Olympic and World Team Dance Alternates Michelle Ford and Glenn Patterson.

In addition to exhibitions by the guest skaters, the Revue will include Cinderella and Space Odyssey production numbers involving more than 100 of the area's most promising amateur figure skaters.

Performances are scheduled for 7:30 p.m. on Friday and Saturday, and at 1:30 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday. Reserved seat tickets at $3.50, $4 and $5 for adults, with a dollar discount for children under 13, are available at the arena on a first-come basis.

"I get around."

With no car it was hard to get around. Now, with an RTA Transfer, Sheila and I can go anywhere for 60¢ each. The park, shopping, the suburbs. We get around. Thanks, RTA.

This RTA Transfer's great. Used to cost me two fares to get to my job. Now I pay my 60¢ and change buses as often as I need to. I really get around. Thanks, RTA.

I play these guys out in the suburbs. After school, Saturday, you know. Well, with an RTA Transfer, I just pay once. For 60¢ I get to the game, play, and come home. And my ma doesn't have to drive me. Thanks, RTA.

Now you can really get around.

The RTA Transfer is good in the city and suburbs. It brings together suburban bus companies throughout RTA land with the CTA. You can ride on Suburban Transit, NORTRAN, West Towns and South Suburban Safeway Lines. You can travel in Aurora, Joliet, Elgin, Waukegan, Wilmette, Des Plaines, Park Ridge, plus other local systems and all CTA trains and buses. And you can trade your RTA Transfer for a CTA transfer and vice-versa.

How the RTA Transfer can save you money.

You pay one fare instead of two, three or more. For 60¢* you can ride on any RTA line whether it's the Chicago "L" or a suburban bus. There's no distance limit. Only a time limit of a few hours. Be sure and get your transfer when you pay your basic fare.

*With the exception of certain premium fare lines. For senior citizens, children, the handicapped and students with approved RTA identification, all fares are lower.

A free booklet to tell you more.

A booklet that explains the RTA Transfer in detail is yours free. Just call 836-7000 (Chicago).
Suburbs call toll-free: 800-972-7000.
Or write RTA Transfer Booklet, 300 N. State St., Chicago 60610.

We're getting there.

When garbage helps make electricity, it isn't garbage anymore.

Last October 27, the City of Chicago and Commonwealth Edison dedicated a unique waste treatment plant.
This plant will recycle ordinary trash into a new kind of fuel—fuel that can be burned with coal in Edison's Crawford generating station to produce electricity.
When operating at full capacity, this facility will process 1100 tons of waste material per day. The "new fuel" it produces will replace about 100,000 tons of coal per year, and provide enough electric power to serve approximately 45,000 Chicago homes.
Equally important, this converted refuse contains practically no sulfur, and produces very little ash.
All in all, this is a promising solution to two pressing urban problems: what to do with municipal wastes, and how to develop alternative fuels that are both inexpensive and environmentally acceptable.

Classic bowlers shatter season marks at Hoffman

by Don Christensen

A scheduling problem relocated the Paddock Classic at Hoffman Lanes and in the process the scratch bowlers, set several season high scores. Included were two new highs in team series, a new high team game, and 19 individuals shooting series of 600 or better.

Formco Metal Products, with all five members rolling over 600, took 16 of 25 points from Weber's Bar-B-Que Kettles in a high scoring match. In the first game Weber's Kettles rallied to win 1095 to 1085 with Lou Diegal's 256 leading the comeback. Formco's Mike Heffner also had 256 for the losers.

Formco bombarded Weber's on the second game, with Fred Hansen, Barry Stjernberg, and Mike Shoop combining totals of 729 to set a new high team game for the year - 1102. The last game turned out to be another barnburner as Formco won, but Weber's made another run at them in the ninth and 10th frames only to fall short, 1012 to 1001.

FORMCO METAL PRODUCTS ended up with a new season high of 3199 while Weber's Kettles rolled 3084. Mike Shoop's 666 was high for the match, closely followed by Fred Hansen's 665, and Lou Diegel's 661.

John Kartheiser's league leading 693 paced Oost Produce to a 3147 team series, second high for the year, as his team took 18½ points from Mr. Norm's Grand Spaulding Dodge.

Kartheiser ignited Oost to games of 1055, 1007 and 1085, losing only the second game in a close one as Grand Spaulding shot 1011. Rich Wagner, fired 642 for the Dodgemen in a losing cause.

In a very closely-contested match Dick McFeely Pontiac edged Des Plaines Ace Hardware 14-11. It looked as though Ace Hardware was going to have an easy time of it as they won all eight points while demolishing Dick McFeely 1041 to 876.

HOWEVER, DICK McFEELY Pontiac reversed the tables in the next two games with scores of 1041 and 1009. The two big games enabled them to overtake Ace in team series also, 2926 to 2922. The fast improving Steve Fleming was high for both teams with 642.

In the remaining match, Uncle Andy's Cow Palace took two out of three games from Beverly, the first half champs, and 17 of 25 points. In comparison, this was a low scoring match but Ken Miller came up with a consistent 212, 201, 211 for 624, high for the two teams.

With action moving to Sims Bowl of Des Plaines, the following matchups are on tap: Grand Spaulding Dodge vs Des Plaines Ace Hardware, Oost Produce vs Dick McFeely Pontiac, Formco Metal Products vs Beverly Lanes, Weber's Kettles vs Uncle Andy's Cow Palace.

STANDINGS:

Formco Metal Products 144, Weber's Kettles 129, Beverly Lanes 122, Oost Produce 117.5, Des Plaines Ace Hardware 100, Dick McFeely Pontiac 99, Uncle Andy's Cow Palace 98.5, Grand Spaulding Dodge 90.

GARY PLAYER'S GOLF CLASS: The right equipment

Sweet 616s pace Paddock women

It was all, nothing and in between for the Paddock Women's Classic Traveling League at Beverly Lanes.

League-leading Striking Lanes and L-Tran Engineering swept all seven points from Tower Cleaners and Ziebart Rustproofing of Des Plaines.

At the other end of the spectrum, Petterson Safety Service vs. Ten Pin Bowl and Thunderbird Country Club vs. Mason Shoes were both nailbiters with Petterson and Thunderbird escaping with 4-3 decisions.

The assortment of team action was highlighted by superb individual performances from L-Tran's Lorrie Nichols and Striking's Bette Brelle, not accidently the two top average bowlers in the circuit.

EACH FIRED blistering 616 series to pace their respective teams to a blitz. Lorrie notched her fine set with a 230 middle game and 200 finale while Bette drilled consistent games of 204, 205 and 207. Nichols averages 192 and Brelle 188.

Striking Lanes padded its first-place margin to 13 points as Eunice Whitmore backed Brelle with 566-216, Alice Schroder hit 538-202, Judy Brumond 528 and Lu Schoenberger 524-208.

Tower responded with Betty Parkhurst's 551-202, Julie Friis' 548-205, Pam Lizak 546-222 and Jan Broderick's 530-213.

Supporting Nichols' series for L-Tran were Isobel Kosi's 545, Vi Douglas' 543-204, Toshi Inahara's 522 and Marlis Pleickhardt's 522. Ziebart was paced by Carol Anderson's 515.

PETTERSON EARNED its slim decision behind Bobbie Kistelny's 562, Carol Sander's 561-201 and Winnie Lohse's 519 while Ten Pin relied on the robust 597-236 by Marge Lindenberg, 560-211 by Joan Plywack, Ethel Juenger's 528 and Betty Peterman's 525.

Thunderbird rode the 541-202-205 of Dee Kachelmuss and the 525 by Mary Yurs, 519-201 by Joan Sobczak and 512 by Marge Carlson to its 4-3 decision. Mason countered on Jackie Gard's 584-223, Rita Buge' 544-207 and Peggy Wales' 534.

O.J., Rote to miss Superstars

PINE MOUNTAIN, Ga. (UPI) — The two of the best-known athletes scheduled to perform in next week's World Superstars — O. J. Simpson and Kyle Rote Jr. — have withdrawn.

Simpson, the footbal star who won the U.S. Superstars competition in 1974, and Rote, the soccer star who won the last three U.S. Superstars titles, withdrew without giving their reasons.

The first World Superstars, in which outstanding athletes compete in sports events other than their specialties, is being held March 15-16 at the Callaway Gardens resort about 75 miles Southwest of Atlanta.

Americans remaining in the international field are polevaulter Bob Seagren, current football players Dave Casper of the Oakland Raiders and Billy "White Shoes" Johnson of the Houston Oilers and former football star Jim Taylor.

The foreign entry list is headed by Swedish pole vaulter Kjell Isaksson, who won the European Superstars by winning the swimming, rowing, gymnastics and weightlifting events; long-distance runner Peter Snell of New Zealand, who finished second to Rote in the U.S. Superstars at Rotunda, Fla., last month; French hurdler Guy Drut; and Austrian skier Karl Schnabl.

Skate-a-Thon

On Wednesday, March 9 at 7:30 p.m. the Mount Prospect Skating Club will hold a Skat-a-Thon at the Rolling Meadows Park District Ice Arena in Rolling Meadows.

Part of the proceeds of this event will be sent to the American Skating Union to help finance teams to represent the United States in International and Olympic competition.

The remainder o the funds will be used to cover expenses incurred by the skating club during the year.

New toy gets high bid

Give a child a new toy and he will experiment with it. Some bridge players do the same thing with a new bid.

South had heard about the super two notrump response to show 18 or 19 points and a balanced hand. You respond two notrump. If partner continues to three notrump you go on to four — not as Blackwood, but rather to show this 18 to 19 points.

South wanted to try it out and finally did, but with a 17-point rather than an 18 or 19-point hand.

West decided there might well be some reason to conceal his six-card spade suit and opened the deuce. South won with the queen and could only count to nine top tricks. This left him with a choice of club and heart finesses for his contract, but South thought he saw a better way to recover from the trouble his bid of one too many notrump had caused.

He simply cashed the four top diamonds. West shed a spade and a club, whereupon South threw him in with a spade. It looked so easy. The defense could take three spade tricks and then would have to lead a club or a heart. Unfortunately, for South, West cashed four spade tricks.

Ask Andy

Moon eclipse usually occurs twice a year

Andy sends the Encyclopaedia Britannica's 1977 Yearbook of Science and the Future to Peter Walsh Jr., 12, of Westbrook, Me., for his question:

WHY ARE ECLIPSES SO RARE?

Every eclipse is different. No two are alike. In a total eclipse of the moon, the color and brightness will depend on the conditions in the earth's atmosphere. If there's much dust in the atmosphere, the eclipsed moon glows with deep red. If the weather is stormy or clouds fill the twilight zone, only a small amount of light will be scattered to the moon by the earth's atmosphere and the eclipse will look dark.

The earth, moon and sun move in predetermined orbits, and as a result of this carefully arranged pattern, only a small number of eclipses are seen — on the moon as the earth comes between it and the sun, and on the sun as the moon comes between it and the earth.

Eclipses of the moon usually take place two times each year, about five or six months apart. The shadow of the earth is about 5,700 miles in diameter at the distance of the moon, and the moon takes a maximum of three hours and 40 minutes to pass completely through the shadow.

When the moon moves around to the opposite side, the sun itself is eclipsed. A dark, cone-shaped shadow, called the umbra, stretches behind the moon, producing a small black spot on the surface of the earth. Only people within the spot see a total eclipse, whereas a lunar eclipse can be seen, weather permitting, by all of the people on the hemisphere facing the moon.

In a fixed location, at least one eclipse of the moon occurs each year, but the average time between total eclipses of the sun is 300 years. To be sure of seeing a particular solar eclipse, a person must travel to the area where the shadow falls.

The black spot on earth of an eclipse of the sun is 100 miles or so across. Its exact size and position can be computed beforehand for each eclipse.

Eclipses of the sun vary. Sometimes the shadow cone sweeps rapidly across the polar regions while at other times it moves more slowly across the tropics.

The black spot of a sun eclipse moves along the path of totality from the sunrise edge of the earth to the sunset edge in about four hours. Sometimes the end of the umbral cone does not quite reach the surface of the earth because the moon is too far away. A total eclipse cannot take place under these circumstances.

In ancient days, eclipses were thought to be the mysterious workings of the gods.

Andy sends a Student Globe to Randy Schoonover, 13, of Canby, Ore., for his question:

WHAT IS THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN WHITE AND YELLOW GOLD?

Gold is a metal found in small amounts throughout the world, and it is precious and highly prized. In its natural color it is bright yellow. Since it is very soft, it is usually mixed with harder metals such as copper or silver. Pure gold is called 24 carat gold; the number of carats describes how many parts in 24 are gold.

White gold is an alloy of gold made with platinum, palladium, nickel or nickel and zinc. There's also a green gold where the alloy is silver. Copper gives a reddish yellow color to the gold. The jewelry industry uses all types of gold alloys.

Do you have a question to Ask Andy? Send it on a post card with your name, age and address to Ask Andy in care of Paddock Publications, P.O. Box 280, Arlington Heights, Ill. 60006. Entries are open to boys and girls 7 to 17.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE – Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.
